

PARIS RAIDS REVEAL GERMAN ARMS

BRIDE SLAIN
At first called the crime of a burglar, more sinister motives are now read into the murder of Frances Brady (top) as she opened the front door (below) of her home at Covington, Ky. Miss Brady had just returned from a bridal shower given in her honor, a week before her scheduled wedding. A missing key to the Brady home is linked to the crime.

DEATH SUSPECT ENDS OWN LIFE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—(UP)—John Biango, sought for questioning in the mysterious slaying of Ernest Heiman, cabinet shop foreman, today killed himself with a pistol bullet through his head at the rear of his home where police had been staked out to await his return.
Detectives, guarding the front of the house, heard the shot from the garage at the rear. Rushing inside, they found the suspect dying, the pistol clutched in his right hand. Police had been searching for Biango since Heiman was killed in his shop two days ago. Other workers were in an adjoining room when the slayer entered and after exchanging a few words with the foreman, shot him dead. Detectives said one of Biango's cards was found under the victim's body.
Police were informed at Biango's home that he left with a .38 caliber pistol that morning and told his wife he "would get a job or he wouldn't come back."
He had not been seen since. Detectives concluded he saw them waiting for him this morning and decided to kill himself rather than surrender. He was said to have quarreled once with Heiman over back wages he insisted were due him.

Spanish Rebels Launch Drive On Madrid

INSURGENTS BOMB DEPOT AT ARANJUEZ

Aerial Squadrons Blast Artillery Batteries and Militia on Roads

WITH LOYALISTS OUTSIDE NAVALPERRAL, Oct. 8.—(UP)—The Loyalist government forces abandoned Navalperral today, in the fact of the rebel onslaught toward Madrid. The strategically important town is about 36 miles northwest of the Capital.

MADRID, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Insurgents, launching with terrific force their drive on Madrid, bombed and damaged the railroad station at Aranjuez and the trackage nearby—the government's life line to the east coast, it was disclosed today.

The raiders were driven off when two modern anti-aircraft guns, installed on flat cars, were sent to protect this sole remaining railroad line.
Twenty-five miles northeast of Toledo, 28 miles south of Madrid, Aranjuez is a spot of vital importance to the government. If the insurgents succeeded in cutting the line, the government would be able to move in men and supplies—to communicate all by land—with the east coast—only by highways.

Offensive Launched
The ferocity of insurgent attacks at Aranjuez and at three fronts west and south of Madrid convinced the government today that the long-dreaded offensive is on, in full vigor.
Squadrons of black insurgent planes rained incendiary and explosive bombs on the Maqueda-Madrid highway, at Navalperral west-northwest of the capital, and in the Olias-Mocion region north of Toledo. They dropped capacity loads of 60 bombs each time and again, flying back and forth along the loyalist lines and the loyalist artillery batteries in the rear. The militiamen and storm guards dug themselves down into the earth and withstood the attack.

ASTURIAN MINERS ENTER OVIEDO
HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Government sources received a report today that Asturian miners, fighting their way into Oviedo, reached the center of the city, beating back the insurgent defenders.
Armored cars and six tanks covered the Royalist advance, the reports said, and the defenders lost 200 dead, including 29 civil guards who were killed when they tried to rush an armored car. The miners claimed capture of 160 prisoners.
The miners attacked from three positions north, west and southwest. They captured the bull ring quarter.

REVEAL PLOT TO ORGANIZE "ANTI-RED" ARMY IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Hubert W. Eldred, U. S. treasury department employee, told the United Press today that he had been suspended by his superiors pending investigation of his activities in organizing a nationwide semi-military corps to combat alleged "radical influence." He said the investigation would be conducted by T. J. Ford, state procurement officer of the treasury department.
Eldred said he was recruiting suspected President Roosevelt might be radical and had as one of its supporters Mrs. Mabel Jacques Eichel, national director of the Independent Coalition of American women which sponsored Alfred E. Smith's recent anti-New Deal speech.
Mrs. Eichel "is going to throw her whole organization over to us after the election," Eldred said. He added that efforts were being made to recruit armored car guards "who are dead shots and ready for service at a moment's notice."

PWA ACCEPTS $190,826,19 BID FOR JOB

Balboa Island Project to Include Sidewalks and Five Public Piers

THE NEWPORT BEACH city council at a special meeting this afternoon awarded a contract for $190,826.19 to the Griffith company, Los Angeles, for construction of a sea wall around Balboa Island.
The action of the council followed word of PWA approval of the Griffith bid this morning. According to City Engineer R. L. Patterson, actual work on the project is expected to get under way between October 26 and November 1, with six or seven months required for completion of the work.
The contract includes sidewalks around the island, five public piers and relocation of lights. The federal government will bear 45 per cent of the cost of the project. The remainder of the money will be raised through a special assessment district.

The Griffith bid was one of two received by the Newport council Monday night, the A & B Construction company, Monterey Park submitting a bid of $202,868.61. These bids were received after the low bid submitted by the L. F. Dow company some time ago had been rejected by PWA officials. No reason for the PWA action in rejecting the Dow bid was given to Newport officials. The Dow bid was for $177,000, or $13,826.19 under that submitted by the Griffith company.

CHINA CLIPPER MAKES LANDING

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 8.—(UP)—The China Clipper arrived here at 9:22 a. m., P.S.T., today on the first leg of the first trans-oceanic airplane passenger flight in history.
The giant Pan-American ship, carrying a group of Press Association correspondents, made the flight from Alameda, Calif., in 17 hours, 48 minutes.
Capt. Ralph Dahlstrom said the flight was uneventful.
The ship landed on the waters of Pearl Harbor at 9:13 a. m., P.S.T., and was docked at 9:23 a. m. (official).
Army bombers and navy amphibians flew overhead and escorted the Clipper to its landing. The correspondents were greeted by army, navy, city and Pan-American officials. Hula girls decked passengers with leis.
The ship picked up light headwinds three hours out from the California coast after which it encountered tail winds. The weather was good throughout the flight except at dawn when the ship encountered a stretch of cloudy weather.
The flight was made in 12 minutes short of the 13-hour schedule. Flying over the great circle route, the ship's best speed was 160 miles an hour, with an average speed of 135 miles.
Officials greeted the pioneer trans-oceanic air passengers included Major Phillips Melville, air aide to General Hugh A. Drum, Commander William A. Ford, representing acting Pearl Harbor commandant Capt. J. D. Wilson and Commander Wayne Tod, representing Gov. Joseph Poindexter.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE IS SUED FOR $500,000

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Shirley Temple's first agency contract, which was made the basis of a $500,000 damage suit by Jack Hays yesterday, was said in bankruptcy court for $25 to the child star's father three years ago, it was disclosed today.
Harry Ashton, who was trustee in a bankruptcy action Hays filed in 1933, declared the contract was one of three sold to satisfy partial claims against the writer-producer and that George F. Temple, Shirley's father, was the only bidder.
"The name Shirley Temple didn't mean anything then," Ashton said. In his suit against the Temple family, 20th Century-Fox studios and others yesterday, Hays demanded $500,000 damages, charging that the contract had been abrogated in 1933.

ACHIEVE HALF OF CHEST GOAL

BULLETIN
Volunteer Community Chest workers reported at noon today that 579 more subscriptions had been secured for a total of $4377 during the past 24 hours. This brings the total up to $22,506 or 63 per cent of the campaign goal.

PASSING THE HALF WAY MARK
at the Wednesday noon meeting at the Elks Club, volunteer workers in the Community Chest campaign continued their work today encouraged with results to date and determined that the goal of $35,656.70 shall be reached for charity and welfare work in Santa Ana during the coming year.
"We have asked every member of the campaign organization to attend the report luncheon meetings today and tomorrow noon at the Elks Club," Chairman D. G. Tidball stated this morning.

"I am looking forward to a good report which will materially reduce the amount needed to reach the goal. Results attained by teams which have reported are splendid and I feel confident that we will reach the goal if every man and woman who has accepted a responsibility in the campaign will carry out the duties assigned in the best possible manner. We are depending on each worker and I know that we will not be disappointed."

Eight more teams reported 100 per cent or more of their quotas at the Wednesday meeting. The teams and their captains were:

CRISIS OVER SOVIET WAR EDICT LOOMS

RUSSIA CHARGES GERMANY and Italy With Aiding Spanish Insurgents
LONDON, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Soviet Russia, angered at alleged Fascist aid to the Spanish insurgents, plunged Europe into a grave crisis today.
Diplomatic sources at Geneva, where the League of Nations assembly is meeting, reported that unless the alleged Fascist aid stopped at once, Russia was ready to speed airplanes and other war materials to the leftist Spanish government.
Such action would be a direct challenge to Germany and Italy. It would precipitate a situation which Europe's statesmen were reluctant to face.

Sends Second Protest
After one protest yesterday, the Russian government sent a second one today directly charging Portugal with violation of neutrality agreements and demanding that:
"In order that an investigation as exhaustive as possible may be made (of the situation), first, an impartial commission be sent to the Spain-Portugal border to investigate on the spot the true state of affairs there; and secondly the commission leave there some of its members to see that the non-intervention agreement is fulfilled in future."
Both notes were communicated to interested nations.
Tomorrow may see a violent scene here in which Russia will be aligned against the Fascist powers—Italy, Germany and Portugal—who, she charges directly, are aiding the Spanish rebels.

LONDON TO HIT BUDGET, RELIEF

TOPEKA, Oct. 8.—(UP)—The Republican high command prepared today for Gov. Alf M. Landon's impending speeches on the budget and relief by directing a three-way attack on President Roosevelt and two high new deal officials.
With Governor Landon ready for departure this evening on an eight day, 2400-mile campaign swing through four of the most important states in the presidential race, the firing was along this line:
1. The Republican nominee challenged the president's calculations on the future obligations of the government and called on "every American voter to get out a pencil and check the new deal figures," contending that "an ordinary knowledge of arithmetic" would show the fallacy of the president's recent budget speech at Pittsburgh in which he said the $1,500,000,000 veterans bonus payment was no longer a future obligation of the government.
2. John G. Stutz, director of the state emergency relief committee, again assailed the WPA administration for failure to make public the actual records of administrative costs in Kansas, including the amount obligated for administration and supervision, and said a letter

REVERSE WORLD

Investigation by Eleanor Mengert, Mountville, W. Va., teacher, of the reason 11-year-old Harold Elliott still was in the second grade led to the discovery that the boy suffered an unusual eye affliction that apparently makes him see everything backwards. When he writes, figures and letters are reversed. Miss Mengert is shown working with Harold.

FIRST UNION JOINS STRIKE

SALINAS, Calif., Oct. 8.—(UP)—Salinas valley members of the Teamsters' union, participating in a strike of lettuce workers, announced today they will vote in favor of a 48-hour general strike when the proposal is brought to ballot at a general meeting of union labor here.
The teamsters, who met last night and decided on their course of action, represented not only lettuce truck drivers but taxi drivers, draymen, bus drivers and other transportation workers.
It was the first definite decision among union men regarding the general strike proposal since representatives of 26 unions with branches in the Salinas valley met and resolved to put the question to their local and international authorities.
The general walkout would be undertaken in protest against recent arrests of lettuce strikers and passage of an anti-picketing ordinance by the Salinas city council, which the fruit and vegetable workers union regards as unconstitutional.
"We expect to bring a test case in the ordinance," said A. S. Doss, secretary of the union.
Strikers met the regulation yesterday by appearing as pickets in the guise of newspaper vendors. This procedure apparently was successful in evading jurisdiction of the law and avoiding arrest by Salinas policemen who had been instructed to take into custody any picketers within the city limits.
There was no indication when a final decision will be reached on the general strike issue.
The "newsboy pickets," comprising both men and women, paraded through main streets carrying bundles of newspapers and shouting

COAST GUARD BOAT REACHES FREIGHTER
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Trundled across 700 feet of swirling water on a ship-to-shore breeches buoy line, Capt. Tom MacFarland, pilot of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Co., emerged from the fog surrounding the grounded freighter Ohloana today to report the vessel in no immediate danger of sinking.
He was the first of the 43 men aboard the freighter to make the treacherous trip to shore.
Capt. MacFarland said several hoses were ripped in the ship's bottom when it grounded between Point Lobos and Seal Rock, at the entrance to the Golden Gate, but said they were "not very bad holes."

HUSBAND MURDERS WIFE IN QUARREL

NEVADA CITY, Cal., Oct. 8.—(UP)—Lawrence L. Johnson, 43, Nevada county road foreman, was held in jail here today accused of slaying his wife, Mary, 36, during a quarrel at their home in Rough and Ready.
Mrs. Johnson was shot through the heart with an automatic pistol late yesterday. Immediately afterward her husband called authorities here by telephone and informed them of the killing, Sheriff Carl J. Tobiasen reported.
Johnson made a brief formal confession in which he blamed his wife's nagging for the quarrel, Tobiasen said. The Johnsons were married in Reno last June.

SEARCH HOME OF FASCIST PARTY CHIEF

Blackjacks, Guns, Daggers Found in Residence of Colonel De La Roque

PARIS, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Weapons and a dagger made in Germany, bearing the Swastika, were seized by police today in a raid on the home of Col. Casimir Francois de la Roque, head of the French Social (Fascist) party. The raid was part of a sudden, general descent on party headquarters in every part of Paris by police acting on urgent government orders.
At one of La Roque's homes police seized three blackjacks, five sword canes, a revolver and the dagger, besides numerous photographs, manuscripts and printed documents. Accompanied by representatives of the Seine et Oise prosecutor's office, police searched La Roque's other Paris house also was searched.

Surprise Raids
The raids were made by surprise and were preceded by the greatest secrecy. All buildings of the organization were occupied and documents seized which authorities believe will prove the French Social party is merely the old banner semi-military Croix de Feu in disguise.
Search of the various headquarters and homes of leaders continued all day long and by mid-afternoon individual raids totalled 37.
The charge on which the raids were based, heretofore made out against John Doe for reconstituting the dissolved league and illegally assembly, today personally named La Roque and five lieutenants, including the flier Jean Mermoz and the Basque deputy, Jean Ybarnegaray.
Every precaution was taken to guard against leakage of information regarding the raids to the Fascists. The prefecture of police telephoned orders to commissioners of all police districts to start the raids at once.
Within a few minutes fast police cars were speeding from the courtyard of the central prefecture.

SHOW GAIN IN PRIVATE JOBS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(UP)—The American Federation of Labor reported today 2,216,000 workers found re-employment in private industry between January and August of this year.
The federation report came as a private internal revenue bureau report to Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., disclosed back tax collections are pouring into the treasury at $700,000 daily, highest rate since 1928.
Commerce department reports presented a similarly optimistic picture of business conditions.
The federation report ascribed the upswing in absorption of the unemployed primarily to an unusual summer boom in business.
In a special study released today by the A. F. of L. found that:
This year business started upward in April and since the up-trend has continued with only minor interruptions, 2,216,000 of

HISTORIC VILLAGE SWEEP BY FLAMES

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 8.—(UP)—Fire swept through the historic village of St. Anne De Beaupre today destroying the residential and business district and driving inhabitants into the countryside.
The famous shrine to Ste. Anne, where thousands of pilgrims from all parts of the world come to pray, was not damaged.
The fire was brought under control shortly before noon. Firemen, however, continued to pour water on the burning buildings. The entire main street of the town was destroyed. It was believed damage would run close to $1,000,000.
Authorities could give no explanation as to how the fire started. They were satisfied, however, that it was accidental.
The Basilica to St. Anne, famed for its miracle cures and faith healing, stands in the heart of the village. Building on all sides were in flames.

RAIDS REVEAL NAZI WEAPONS

Raiding squads descended on headquarters of the organization all over Paris and took possession. Guards were stationed at doors with orders to keep crowds at a distance and permit no one to enter or leave.

Seize All Documents
Officials of the Seine department prosecution office began a search of desks and file cabinets and seized all documents.

From the material seized, the prosecutors, acting in behalf of Prefet Leon Blum's left wing coalition government, expected to prove that the French Social party is the old Croix de Feu (Cross of Fire) organization of Col. Casimir Francoise de La Roche in disguise.

The Croix de Feu was outlawed and disbanded by government order as one of the organizations that threatened the internal peace of the country.

It has been admitted that the Croix de Feu had an "air force." There are circumstantial reports that the alarmingly large flow of contraband arms into France from Switzerland is for the social party.

Situation Acute
The situation became acute a few days ago when it was reported that the Croix de Feu, or the Social Party, was trying to divide the allegiance of the armed police forces.

Colonel La Roche, on paper, directly defied the government Sunday by announcing that his men in future would break up all left wing mass meetings.

Now the government has taken the offensive. It was disclosed that the government is organizing a special suburban force ostensibly to seek ordinary criminals.

It will be a formidable organization of some 1500 men—inspectors and sergeants; a flying squad of 40 automobile police; 60 motorcycle police; 300 bicycle policemen and 800 constables. The new system will become operative about December 1.

Drum Corps Will Enter Big Parade

Santa Ana will be represented tomorrow night in the "Boulder Power Inaugural" electrical parade at Los Angeles by the crack Santa Ana American Legion drum corps, according to an announcement made today by E. L. Couron, director.

Three persons were injured early Tuesday morning, when a car driven by Harlan James Hartman, 21 San Pedro, crashed into a large palm tree on Chapman avenue near Placentia. The accident, reported yesterday, resulted in injury to Loraine Watson, 17, Marjorie Smith, 15, both of Los Angeles, and John Rogers, 20, San Pedro.

Twelve-year-old Eleanor Headley, 1712 West Sixth street, Santa Ana, sustained minor injuries early yesterday, when her bicycle was struck by a car driven by W. E. Morrison, 44, of 1715 West Sixth street. Morrison told officers that due to the fog, he failed to see the girl or the bicycle until the fender of his car had struck them.

Lost Boy Found By Local Police

Little Donald Little, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Little, 610 East Fourth street, last night was the cause of a city-wide search by Santa Ana police. At 7:30 p. m., Mr. Little phoned police and reported that the youngster had been missing from his home for over an hour. It was getting dark, and the family was worried. Mr. Little told the officers that the boy had a flashlight with him, and might be seen playing G-Man or something on the streets.

Officers Roy Hartley and J. B. Stephenson patrolled the neighborhood, and found Donald in the 800 block on Fourth street. He was given the thrill of a ride in a police car and then returned to his anxious parents.

Police News

M. W. Hollingsworth, 2442 Riverside Drive, yesterday morning reported to police that prowlers had been seen at his residence for the past few nights. Yesterday morning, he found that his car, which had been left in the driveway at midnight, had been tampered with. All the air in both rear tires had been let out.

R. E. Kleinke, 803 Lowell street, last night reported the theft of a .38 caliber automatic pistol from his car which was parked in front of his residence.

Furniture making was not considered a craft until the end of the 12th century.

"extras" and quoting from supposed headlines in the papers.

"Read all about it, growers, ship- pers unfair, force general strike," was a typical cry.

Many persons bought the newspapers, only to find they were old editions of various papers. Meantime, a special committee of the California Federation of Labor vigorously criticized action of the Growers-Shippers association in rejecting Gov. Frank F. Merriam's peace plan.

"The association's policy is short sighted . . . characteristic of that reckless group," the committee said in a statement.

LONDON TO HIT BUDGET, RELIEF

received from the assistant WPA administrator placing costs at four per cent included only figures which have practically no value."

3. Governor Landon charged that the president's "carelessness" with facts and figures extended to his cabinet members, specifically Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, who made "reckless" statements recently in Iowa regarding farm issues.

He said Wallace had "totally ignored provisions of the Republican farm program which effectively safe-guard the farm and the farm family."

Governor Landon will journey into Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan making three major speeches on budget, relief and civil service, and probably two score rear-platform appearances. He will also leave his train to speak from a platform at Dayton and Toledo. His office staff, figuring up the mileage of the campaign so far, found that including the impending tour Governor Landon will have traveled 11,329 miles since his nomination July 23.

The impending journey was considered perhaps most significant of the four campaign trips so far because it will carry him into the farm and industrial midwestern area where his aides believe the battle for the presidency will be decided.

Stutz's statement, co-ordinated with Governor Landon's attack on the WPA for refusal to make public relief administrative costs, said Corrington Gill, assistant to WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, had "by no means furnished the answer" to his questions concerning WPA costs in Kansas.

He said he had asked for both the amount and percentage paid to the needy and for the amount obligated for administration and supervision which "apparently" were not included in Gill's letter stating that the administrative cost in Kansas for the first six months of this year was four per cent. Stutz also charged Gill with ignoring his request for permission to inspect the actual WPA records.

SOVIET THREAT BRINGS CRISIS

against the constituted government of the country.

Then the 27 nations on the international committee of non-intervention in the Spanish war met—ironically, in the "Locarno" room of the foreign office, christened because it was there that the Locarno treaty, designed to inaugurate an era of friendship and peace, was signed.

Threaten Denunciation
Russia's charges, and it's threat to denounce the non-intervention agreement, will come before this meeting. It was expected Great Britain would seek to open the debate, using as subject the Spanish government's recent charges of Fascist aid to the rebels.

Russia is determined to seek prompt action—to stop aid to the rebels or to give aid directly to the loyalists. Nations all over Europe would be drawn into the serious quarrel that would follow. Germany and Italy would be brought in directly. It was considered doubtful here whether Premier Leon Blum of France could continue French neutrality then.

Italy, in preliminary comment on the Russian threat, called it "bluff," and held it to be an admission that the Spanish government was losing. Germany withheld all comment pending conferences of high officials.

Samuel Kagan, Russia charge d'affaires, handed the communication to Lord Plymouth, acting chairman of the non-intervention committee, while the committee was in recess yesterday. It was in the form of a statement by Kagan in behalf of his government.

It made the direct charges that German airplanes reached the Spanish rebels from Germany, that poison gas reached the rebels from Italy, that Portugal permitted its frontier to be used by the rebels. "The Soviet government fears that the situation created by the repeated violations of agreements makes the agreements practically non-existent. The Soviet govern-

REPUBLICANS WILL RALLY TONIGHT IN SANTA ANA PARK

Preparations were being made by Republican leaders today to receive a large crowd at tonight's rally in Birch park, Santa Ana, scheduled for 7:30, when the Hon. J. A. Morrow, of Chicago, delivers the address of the evening.

Special invitations have been mailed to 1500 Orange county residents, and the general public also is invited to the rally, which will mark the organization of a Landon-Knox Club for the Winning of the West, according to Howard Irwin, chairman of the Orange county Republican central committee, sponsoring the rally.

Morrow is a war veteran who traveled in every continent in the world as a newspaperman after the war. He saw various democracies overthrown by the post-war upheavals. His talk tonight will deal with the present situation in the United States.

Long Beach Couple Wins Court Case

Mr. and Mrs. David J. Owens, of Long Beach, who traded business property in that city for a ten-acre orange grove at Anaheim, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Julius J. Schneider, late yesterday won a jury verdict of $3000 damages against the Schneiders and the real estate agent in the deal, Carl C. Rasmussen.

A jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scofield's court, awarded the plaintiffs $2250 against Mr. and Mrs. Schneider, and $750 against Rasmussen, for alleged misrepresentation of the citrus property, as to value and income production.

It can be by no means agreed to change the agreements of non-intervention into a screen which masks military assistance to the insurgents by some participants to the agreements against the legal Spanish government. In view of this the Soviet government is obliged to declare that if measures to halt the violations are not taken immediately, it considers itself free of its obligations under the agreements.

SHOW GAIN IN PRIVATE JOBS

the unemployed found work in industry between January and August, 1936, or nearly twice as many as in 1935.

"Reliable business indicators show no gain in industrial activity from January to August last year, which compares with a gain of about 9 per cent this year.

"By comparing the summer dull seasons, from June to August, in the last three years, the increasing force of business recovery and the accompanying gains in employment are clearly shown.

"Trade union unemployment records tell the same story. From January to September, 1935, three and one-tenth per cent of the membership went back to work, in 1936, six and one-tenth per cent.

"In building, gains are especially striking. In 1936, twenty-six per cent of the building trades members found work (January to September) compared to 15 per cent last year. Gains this year have also been greater in printing and metal trades.

"In spite of these employment gains, millions are still dependent on relief or government emergency work. The latest figures show 1,670,000 cases still on relief rolls (May, 1936) and in the week ending September fifth, $364,000 had emergency jobs on the works program."

PICTURES OF FILM STARS ARE STOLEN

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers are gracing somebody's home here in Santa Ana today. Santa Ana police would like to know who the host is.

According to a report filed last night, someone entered the West Coast theater, 308 North Main street, and removed pictures of the two famous stars. Both pictures are in color and stand about five feet in height. Their value was estimated at $750.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

Affection will disappear from your speech and manner and the charm of your real self will reassert itself as soon as you cease giving undue attention to the impression you hope you are making upon other people. In addition to this you will be so much happier.

The habit of dwelling upon other people's opinion of you and of analyzing their appreciation of what you are going through results in a subconscious sense of slavery.

Face your problems simply and naturally; quietly do your best without wearing your heart on your sleeve. There are so many worth while things which you do that you must not pause to pose.

VEGETABLE WORKERS TO GET BOARD'S DECISION OCT. 16

A decision by the arbitration board in the agricultural wage controversy between Mexican vegetable workers and their Japanese employers, was promised for October 16 by Deputy State Labor Commissioner Thomas Barker, who is chairman of the board, when the matter was submitted to the board at the conclusion of a hearing in the courthouse late yesterday.

Both sides previously had bound themselves to accept the arbitration board's decision upon wage scale and other demands made by the workers at yesterday's hearing. These demands include wage range from 35 to 50 cents per hour, in place of the present 25-cent rate; also elimination of foremen elimination of child labor, and recognition of collective bargaining.

After Lucas Lucio, Mexican consular representative in Orange county, had presented the workers' side of the case, the growers side was presented under direction of Stuart Strathman, of Placentia. Among those who testified on behalf of the growers were County Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs; Secretary Roland D. Flaherty, of the county farm bureau; Assistant Farm Advisor Newton Crane, and various Japanese growers.

The arbitration board is scheduled to hold a meeting to consider the evidence presented at yesterday's hearing, and formulate a decision which will be announced October 16.

SCORE CITED FOR IMPROPER USE OF USED CONTAINERS

More than a score of Orange county fruit and vegetable shippers have been cited rectified by Los Angeles standardization inspectors, as a result of a statewide drive on improperly marked containers, according to word received today by D. W. Tubbs, Orange county agricultural commissioner.

In each case, it was stated, the fruits or vegetables had been packed in used containers, without effecting the old markings.

The drive is being conducted by enforcement officials in the terminal markets, said Tubbs. "Marks and labels on boxes obviously do not apply to any but the product originally packed in them," Tubbs commented today. "Growers who do not take the trouble to see that the old markings are obliterated must run the risk of a citation for mislabeling."

"Not only is it against the law to pack produce in containers, the labels of which do not accurately apply to the contents, but it is also unlawful to sell, purchase, or use containers bearing a trade mark or trade name, without first effecting it, unless the user has a right to the mark or name."

Roosevelt Grows Stronger Daily; Landon Faltering

POOR LITTLE ELEPHANT! Why does Gov. Landon cling to the gold standard which the world has abandoned?

The campaign swings into the home stretch with President Roosevelt far in the lead, a topheavy favorite to win. His rivals string along behind, steadily losing ground instead of gaining it.

Suppose we review the campaign to date and discover why. The figure of President Roosevelt looms larger daily. Events conspire to demonstrate his broad statesmanship and amazing capacity for leadership. He speaks with a confidence that carries conviction to the nation. His opponents wither and slump in the bright light of what he has accomplished.

The Republican campaign, on the other hand, is disintegrating, despite furious activity and an overflowing war chest.

Only three months ago, Gov. Landon was accepting the G. O. P. nomination with the charge that the Roosevelt Administration was "fumbling with recovery." He spoke rashly. The nation is pulsing with the thrill of better times. Now his campaign manager, Mr. John Hamilton, is lamely pleading that recovery is here because Gov. Landon was nominated. The fact of recovery is no longer challenged.

A few months ago, the Republicans were condemning the currency policies of the Roosevelt Administration. They held out to the country the pledge—or threat—of a return to the gold standard at the earliest possible time. And then came the currency agreement with Great Britain and the abandonment of the yellow metal by the gold bloc countries.

THREE MISTAKES

Once again facts had confounded the Republican managers. Only Gov. Landon was still on the gold standard. The rest of the world was hatched to the Roosevelt dollar. A brilliant stroke of statesmanship and a crushing blow for the Landon hopes.

A few weeks ago, the Republican nominee was belaboring President Roosevelt for not balancing the budget and for spending too much money. Then he tried to be constructive. He traveled to Des Moines for a farm speech, and when he concluded, his admirers were horrified to learn that his program would be twice as costly as the Roosevelt program.

Gov. Landon hurried over to Minneapolis to attack Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade treaties. But some one gave him incorrect figures on cheddar cheese. Result—he got an editorial spanking from the Atlantic to the Pacific in which his journalistic patron, the Kansas City Star, was compelled to join.

MR. HEARST WRONG?

Gov. Landon opened an assault on the social security program at Milwaukee. He enraged social workers and caused Republican John Winant to resign from the Federal Board to answer him. He used a secret report of a private organization to bolster up his case and was sharply reprimanded for using the report without authority and for drawing false inferences.

Trying to grapple with federal problems, Governor Landon defeats himself. Gradually the impression is gaining ground that good intentions and good nature hardly qualify him to run the United States. Even in Republican quarters there is a sense of disappointment, a feeling that Mr. Hearst was overenthusiastic when he sold Gov. Landon as the Moses to lead the party to the promised land. The Governor lacks what it takes.

The Democratic party is happy over the campaign. The Republicans have the propaganda and the money. We have the candidate. The re-election of President Roosevelt is assured.

So Mr. Roosevelt Will Keep Us Out Of War, Will He?

Edward VIII Mussolini Hitler Stalin
RULERS WHO MAY BE INVITED TO CONFER

We used the headline above in this column last Wednesday. We said then that we thought Gov. Landon would be more likely to keep us out of war than Mr. Roosevelt because—

Landon is COOL, CAREFUL, CANNY; while Roosevelt is MERCURIAL, IMPULSIVE, UNSTABLE.

Also, because—

The record shows that Mr. Roosevelt is NOT the "master mind" in foreign affairs that his propagandists paint him; that on the contrary, this "master mind" build-up is mostly a MYTH.

We called attention to part of that record, not having space to go into it all.

We mentioned, however:

1. Mr. Roosevelt's torpedoing of the London monetary conference in 1933, which blocked currency stabilization for three years.

2. His recognition of Russia, whereby the Moscow Reds got the doughnut and we got the hole.

3. His efforts to revise the Panama treaty to boost his Good Neighbor policy—a revision which MILITARY AND NAVAL EXPERTS THINK WILL IMPERIL THE DEFENSE OF THE CANAL IN WAR TIME. If war broke out suddenly when our fleet was in the wrong ocean, that would be JUST TOO BAD for your Uncle Sam.

4. His Administration's attempt to horn into the British-Italian dispute last year with oil sanctions. The PEOPLE made it plain that they would not stand for monkeying in foreign quarrels. So the New Deal dropped that risky scheme.

But what struck us as one of the most ominous signs of MR. ROOSEVELT'S ITCH TO MEDDLE ABOARD was a recent article by Mr. Arthur Krock, distinguished Washington correspondent of the New York Times, stating that the President was considering a "get together" of Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini and others (including himself) in the interests of peace.

We called that project a beautiful but dangerous pipe dream. We also said it had been "disavowed" when the New Dealers realized that the thought of getting those two old buddies, Stalin and Hitler, around the same table was too ridiculous to be taken seriously.

But it seems, according to Mr. Krock, that though the President has not yet definitely committed himself, he still has the idea in mind. Writing to the New York Daily News, Mr. Krock says (in part):

"The story in the Times related that the President had been seriously considering the idea of calling such a conference, but had done nothing about it, saw the obstacles, and might never do anything about it."

"It was also related that, on the other hand, he might attempt to carry out the idea after the election."

"Who disavowed those statements? Can the Republican National Committee quote the President on the subject, or any Administration comment beyond Secretary Wallace's statement that no moves toward such a conference had been made . . . and that he personally did not believe the President had ever entertained the idea . . ."

"Who can disavow a fact of immediate personal application save the person himself? The story was correct in every detail, and has not been disavowed."

The reputation of Mr. Krock and the New York Times for accuracy is so high that we accept his statement as conclusive.

We also cheerfully admit that, when we gave the New Deal credit for enough common sense to DROP SUCH AN IMPRACTICABLE AND DANGEROUS MOVE into foreign entanglements, we were mistaken.

We thank Mr. Krock for setting us right on this AMAZING AND DISQUIETING item in the Roosevelt record.

Our error. Excuse it, please!

WARREN MARR IS RETURNED HERE ON CHARGES OF THEFT

Deputy Sheriff R. R. Lutes today returned to Santa Ana with Warren Marr, 36, wanted here on five counts of grand theft and four counts of violation of the corporate securities act. Marr was arrested in Detroit, Mich., where Lutes spent 10 days in court battles over extradition of the wanted man.

According to Lutes, Marr had obtained the best attorneys available to handle his fight against extradition to California. In a drawn out battle which saw the case taken before the governor and later before a federal judge, Lutes had to match wits continuously with Marr's attorneys. At one time, Lutes nearly got out of the state with his prisoner before he was served with a writ demanding his appearance in the federal court. This happened immediately after the governor had granted extradition, but Lutes was informed that he would have to return the prisoner into the custody of the sheriff for at least 24 hours.

"The writ was served, and I was given just a few hours to prepare my case for presentation to the federal court," Lutes said today in recounting the affair. "To make a long story short, the federal judge granted extradition. A Detroit detective and I smuggled Marr out of the court, placed him in a car, and in a round about way got him to Dearborn, where we placed him in jail. The detective and I then went back to Detroit, stopped the several blocks from my hotel, while he walked to the hotel and checked my luggage out. "Someone started to follow him on his return to the car. He gave the man the slip by ducking into a cafe and out through the kitchen entrance. Later, we had to sneak back into Detroit and board the train. From there on, it was easy."

SAN CLEMENTE'S BUILDING ORDINANCE WILL BE TESTED

The San Clemente city building ordinance which requires that every building must have white stucco walls and red tile roofs will be tested in court soon, it was indicated today following a meeting of the Spanish Village council last night, when the board dropped plans to amend the ordinance to permit other types of construction.

According to reports, the Capital company, a Bank of America subsidiary, which had requested the change in the ordinance in order to erect Monterey type houses in certain sections of the city, will institute a friendly suit this week to test the right of the city to specify the type of materials in a building.

The Capital company has plans for the erection of a large number of residences in the Spanish Village but desires a different construction than specified in the present ordinance. Following first reading given the amended ordinance several weeks ago, a meeting of property owners was held last week, with approximately 50 present. The sentiment at that meeting favored the change in the ordinance. However, at last night's council session a petition opposing the amendment was submitted. Considerable discussion was held, with property owners present expressing their views pro and con.

The court test will be in the nature of a writ of mandate to compel the building inspector to issue a permit for a different type house than permitted at present in the Spanish Village.

BETTY BROWN AND HORACE YETT WED

BREA, Oct. 8.—Only members of the two interested families and a very few close friends witnessed the single ring ceremony which on Tuesday night united in marriage Miss Betty Jean Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brown, of this city, and Horace H. Yett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Yett, of Fullerton, at the Brown home on East Elm street.

Attired in white satin and wearing a halo and veil, the bride entered the living room with her father. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frank V. Stipp. Miss Virginia Blanchard played the wedding march. The bride's bouquet was of pink gardenias, white sweet peas and bouvardia, briar cliff roses and amaryllis.

The pink and white decorative theme in the living room was accentuated by the huge basket of pink and white dahlias, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Shaffer to Mr. and Mrs. Brown, the occasion also being their 39th wedding anniversary.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and later refreshments of cake and motif ice cream were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Yett are now on a honeymoon and upon their return will make their home in Fullerton, where Mr. Yett is employed.

COUNTY'S GRID MACHINES GET FINAL TUNEUP

TOMORROW'S FOOTBALL
Santa Ana jaysce at Citrus (night).
Orange vs. Tustin at Santa Ana Bowl (night).
San Bernardino at Anaheim. Citrus at Brea-Olinda. San Juan Capistrano at Newport Harbor. Puente at Valencia.

Tomorrow is "dress rehearsal" day for Orange county's prep football machines.

Most every squad in the Orange league will have on its glad rags for next week the regular conference season is to be inaugurated.

Feature attraction of the week will be spread before Santa Ana's non-traveling fans. Taking advantage of the Dons' absence and the Saints' idleness, Tustin and Orange play their annual "big game" in the Municipal Bowl Friday night. It will be the first nocturnal engagement for the Farmers, the second for Orange.

Somewhat dispirited by injuries to End "Chuck" Robinson and Quarterback Harold Nelson, out of the lineup indefinitely, Brea-Olinda's champions tackle Citrus high school at Brea. The Wildcats draw a bye in next week's conference play.

Anaheim takes on a big and rugged San Bernardino eleven in what should prove a real test for Dick Glover's improving Colonists. Anaheim faces Garden Grove in its first league game Friday-week.

Coach Ralph Reed's Newport Harbor Sailors meet San Juan Capistrano at Newport Heights. This one should polish up the Tars for next week's tough assignment with Huntington Beach. Al Reboin's Oilers canceled their contest with Downey, but had a mid-week workout, with Long Beach Poly's reserves.

Valencia, another team that has suffered from injuries, having lost Captain Roy Parker for the season, tunes up against Puente. Valencia draws a tough minor league assignment next week, battling Tustin.

Johnny Ward's Garden Grove Argonauts swung into action today against "Pinky" Greene's Santa Ana reserves. It was to be a regular game.

Anaheim Skaters Play S. A. Tonight

Santa Ana's roller hockey skaters take on Anaheim here tonight in their second league game of the season. They turned back Fullerton last week.

McCasky, Merrerall, Stickler, Heinly, Reynolds, Warrecker, Ray and Smith will be available for the Santa Ana lineup. Game-time is 8:30; the place, the skating rink at Fourth street and Van Ness avenue. Santa Ana's team is sponsored by the Tienan Typewriter company.

NEXT VICTIM

Big and hairy is about the only thing that's known of George Brescia, below, next opponent of Joe Louis. The large fellow from Argentina meets the Brown Bomber in New York Friday night.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(P)—The process of giving young Joe Louis more experience in preparation for a whirlwind campaign next summer continues tomorrow night.

In the Hippodrome, built 21 years ago for stage spectacles, the "Brown Bomber" clashes with Jorge Brescia, an Argentine heavyweight who has won eight straight fights.

Louis, who is getting bigger and heavier, is a 5-2 favorite.

The bout will have no bearing on the heavyweight situation. Its only attraction is that Louis is fighting.

Joe is expected to scale about 203. Brescia, a 21-year-old battler, will weigh in at 213.

TROJANS AT DALLAS; FEAR SCHINDLER OUT

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Thirty-nine University of Southern California football players, en route east for an intercollegiate game with University of Illinois at Champaign, arrived here today for a brief workout.

During a dummy scrimmage on the Texas School of Mines field in El Paso, Coach Jones said the team was in good condition with exception of Ambrose Schindler, quarterback. Schindler has a "Charlie Horse," and is not likely to play Saturday.

HUSKIES WORK OUT IN L. A. COLISEUM

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Jimmy Phelan's Washington gridgers were to go through a public workout late today in the Coliseum a few hours after their arrival from Seattle. The Huskies will hold a secret drill, however, tomorrow in preparation for their game with U. C. L. A. Saturday.

FERGUSON MAY WIN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Don Ferguson, veteran left half-back on the U. C. L. A. football team, may win the starting post against Washington over Bill Spaulding, Jr., son of the coach, the elder Spaulding indicated today.

BOLTON OUT OF DONS' LINEUP; ROQUET STARTS

His two injured knees failing to respond to treatment, big Clarence Bolton, first string left tackle, will be out of Santa Ana's lineup against Citrus tomorrow night. Bolton was hurt in the Long Beach free-for-all last Friday.

Russell ("Rusty") Roquet, 200-pound Anaheim redhead, will take Bolton's place in the first Eastern Jaycee conference game, Coach Bill Cook announced.

It is a tough blow to the Dons, but luckily the Dons have a capable replacement in Roquet, who has started most of the games anyway, because of his punting and kickoff ability. Ed Stanley and Dick DeSmet, husky blocking backs, are still on the injured list and probably will see no action either.

Several changes in the Dons' line-up are in the offing. Cook said that Dan Boyd might start at center instead of Bob Holmes. Two changes in the backfield put Bill Greshner at quarter and Joe Herbert at fullback spot where they showed to advantage last Friday night.

The tentative lineup: Erdhaus, Co-Captain; Titensor, ends; Roquet and Devine, tackles; Bach and Benson, guards; Boyd, center; Greshner, quarter; Co-Captain Lehnhardt and Lentz, halfbacks; and Herbert, full.

Today's practice drill was expected to be nothing more than a general warmup, and last minute instructions on Citrus formations. The Dons also will work on a pass defense.

COLLEGE SPONSORS CARAVAN TO CITRUS GAME

Noisy, gay streamer Santa Ana junior college student cars will roar north into Azusa tomorrow night when the local collegians join in a caravan to cheer the 1936 Don football squad to its first conference victory against Al Clays' Citrus Owls.

The caravan forms at the college campus and leaves Santa Ana promptly at 6:30. The route will be through Anaheim, Fullerton, and the Brea canyon road to Pomona boulevard—then east on Pomona boulevard to the San Jose Hills road (the first road north) to Citrus street in west Covina, then north on Citrus street to Foothill boulevard. The Citrus campus is located on Foothill boulevard between Azusa and Glendora.

Streamers of the college colors, black and red, will be distributed. The college office asks transportation for many who do not have means of transportation to the game.

WILLOWICK WOMEN OPEN AGAINST H. B.

Inter-team matches in the Women's South Coast Golf association begin next Monday, with the Willowick club of Santa Ana opposing Huntington Beach, and Long Beach Municipal playing at Green Hills, Whittier.

Willowick will lineup with Mrs. C. H. Chapman and Mrs. Harry Woodington, No. 1; Mrs. Pearl Adams and Mrs. Cliff Miller, No. 2; Mrs. Sidney Harris and Mrs. H. A. Bradley, No. 3, and Mrs. Ludy Schaffer and Mrs. P. A. Hooven, No. 4. Mrs. Edgar Chapman and Mrs. Ben Livesey are other members of the squad.

Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Hooven finished one-two in yesterday's point tourney at Willowick. They had 34 and 23, respectively.

Deadline Near In Week's Grid Contest

The deadline is near in the second round of The Register's big Football Contest. All ballots must be in the mails or delivered to The Register building before Friday morning.

The rules are simple, and there is no charge. Merely clip the blank on this page, fill it out and mail or deliver. First prize is $7.50, second $5. In cases of tie the money is pooled and shared alike.

TUSTIN USES HILLER PLAYS AGAINST SAINTS

Santa Ana's Saints today had a better idea of what they'll have to stop in the San Diego stadium Saturday afternoon after a "pre-view" yesterday when Tustin, using formations similar to those San Diego will employ, scrimmaged with them the better part of an hour.

Coached by Bill Cole, onetime Trojan tackle and later a Howard Johnson assistant, Tustin uses the same system as San Diego. The farmers, who are warming up for a night game here Friday with Orange, three pass after pass into the Santa Ana secondary and too many were completed for Coach Bill Foot's comfort.

The Saint squad is all in good physical condition, however, and Foot will be able to start whatever lineup he considers his strongest.

A squad of 35 will be taken south, leaving about 9:30 a. m., but the personnel will not be made public until after today's game at Garden Grove between the Saint reserves and Garden Grove's regulars.

Coach Reece Greene took the following men to Garden Grove: LE—Smith and Warren; LT—Hunter and Reid; LG—Lowe, Leighty and Steen; C—Ashen and Alexander; RG—Harvey and Stauffer; RT—Engel, Wagner and Ruiz; RE—McClure, Roemer and Byland; Q—Webb and Pagenkoop; LB—Blower and Carver; RH—Tway and Vulvihill; P—Smother and Waggener.

Greene said he would alternate two full teams by quarters.

Francis Returns To Tustin Lineup For Orange Game

By EDWIN COX

With both the Orange Panthers and Tustin Farmers making final preparation for their debut into night football tomorrow at 7:30, in the Santa Ana Bowl, the game itself looms as a toss-up.

Both sides will be at full strength. The Farmers will have their ace ground-gainer, Paul Francis, back in the lineup and Coach Bill Cole, after juggling his backfield around for last week's game, plans to start his first string backs. They are Francis at quarter, Walt Linker at right half, Felkner at left half and Monroy at full. This lineup clicked best against Santa Ana in a scrimmage yesterday.

Coach Cole will probably use the same line he employed against Garden Grove last week: Vic Linker and Salazar, ends; Holdeman and Wolfe, tackles; Bouchard and Yamada, guards; and Bristow at center.

RATE POLEE AS TOUGH FIGHTER; SOLIS IN SEMI

Straight from a smashing victory over Eddie Shea at the Los Angeles Olympic Monday night, gaudy Odell Poole goes to the post at the Orange County Athletic club tonight against the pugilistic pride of Fullerton, Lupe LeMon.

Polee is a dream-eyed Negro from Los Angeles' Central avenue. He comes in at 195 pounds, and will climb in the ring with at least 15 pounds' pull over the short, iron-jawed LeMon.

A clever boxer as well as a fairly good puncher, Polee figures to be a favorite yet Promoter Bob Singleton is so cocksure LeMon will win he's already made arrangements for his meal-ticket to tackle "Wild Man" Boyd next Thursday. Boyd is the navy champion and undefeated on the coast.

This will be LeMon's first start in several weeks but Polee has been busier than a bird-dog. Prior to his win over Shea at the Olympic, the towering colored man knocked out Jesse Brazil at the O. C. A. and also abruptly terminated the comeback of Orange's "Bud" McCarter in a match at Wilmington in which several of McCarter's ribs were broken.

Tonight's semi-final matches Raoul Solis, clever Santa Ana Mexican lightweight, against Ray Garry of Los Angeles.

The special sends Art Arroya, sheik of Westminster, against Jackie Allen at 145 pounds, Maxie Moore, Santa Ana junior college halfback, battles Tommy Morgan.

Bob Martin's Tustin heavyweights, Ernie Schive, makes his bow against Fred Imhoff. They are 190-pounders.

Tino Munoz meets Leonard Gibbs. Tiny Barney Rey's opposition is Tino Sanchez. Arch Pollock tackles a good boy in Henry Moberly. And Placencia's Jimmy Merced raises the curtain against Corby Gibbs.

PRESS POLL MAKES GOPHERS FAVORITES

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(UP)—The annual United Press poll of leading newspaper sports authorities today gave Minnesota, its third straight Big 10 football championship hands down.

Ohio State, despite its pre-season glamour, ranged from first all the way down to fourth place, but managed to hold second by a wide margin in the averages.

Northwestern, Iowa and Indiana completed the first division in order, with Purdue, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Chicago pulling up behind.

FARNSWORTH 2ND IN REALTORS' GOLF

A trapped second on the sixteenth hole cost F. E. (Ed) Farnsworth, Santa Ana golfer, first place in the annual California Real Estate association's tournament at the Hollywood Country club yesterday.

Despite a six on that par-four hole, Farnsworth posted a 76. The winner, Gibson Dunlap, former Southern California amateur champion, took a 75. An even 100 realtors from all over the state participated.

A Santa Ana team of Carl Mook, Rex Kennedy, C. W. Hill and Farnsworth aggregated 353-54-299 for second low net in four-man totals.

OILERS PLAY BEACH CITY LOOP CHAMPS

Huntington Beach's champion night ball club will get to the post once more before disbanding. The Oilers today scheduled a game for Friday night with the Mountain View Dairy, City league champions of Long Beach. The teams will play at Huntington Beach. Jay Brinkley, rated as the No. 1 pitcher in Long Beach, will oppose Louie Neva.

LARRY LUTZ TURNS PRO

Larry Lutz is playing professional football this fall after all. Santa Ana's All-America tackle of 1935 has signed at $50 a game to play for a season in the California State league. He's with the Salinas Iceberg Packers.

Lutz made his debut last Sunday. His team lost to Victor McLagen's Hollywood All-Stars, 20-14, but Larry's line play was outstanding. Other ex-Bears with Salinas are Don Fowler, Al Thorell and Ed Storm.

Lutz's club comes to Los Angeles next week. It plays at Gilmore stadium.

BRIGGS HOME FROM ALASKA

Barren of the usual trophies of his big game hunts, George Briggs is home from a two-months expedition in Alaska.

The veteran sportsman described the trip as one of his least successful.

His only prize was a large grizzly bear.

A terrific storm that swooped down on him from the north made hunting disagreeable; illness added to his discomfort. Briggs spent 38 days up the Stickeen river—where in other years he's bagged moose, caribou, bear, mountain sheep and goat—but this time luck was not on his side.

"In fact, I don't believe anyone is interested in the journey," said the sportsman. "It was a washout. People only like to hear about successful hunts."

GOLD IN THEM THAR FRILLS

When Jim Detrixhe sold his Green Cat cafe it was assumed he might move away, sever his connection with softball here.

Instead, the former restaurant man seems to be ready for a deeper plunge now that he has some time on his hands. And he figures there's gold in them thar frills—meaning girls' baseball.

Detrixhe claims he's prepared to field the finest women's team in Southern California next summer. Already he's applied to the city council for a lease on the Municipal Bowl.

Jim will pick his talent from here, there and everywhere. "Just so they're good," he stated.

Playing independently, his club will schedule games with leading teams in San Diego, Los Angeles and other cities.

They say "Bono" Koral will manage Detrixhe's outfit which will cater to the same "trade" as the team of Santa Ana lassies that the Santa Ana Stars are entering in the girls' division of the National Night league.

IS FOOTE PLAYING POSSUM?

Notwithstanding the facts of the case, which seem to point to a San Diego victory in the San Diego stadium Saturday, I've been fighting a wild impulse to pick Santa Ana.

The reason is Bill Foote's sudden and inexplicable metamorphosis from optimism to abject pessimism.

The Saint coach scouted Santa Ana personally last week, now grunts glumly: "We have a chance to hold 'em down to two touchdowns."

The role is so vastly different than anything Foote has ever tried that I half suspect the little Swede of pulling wool.

Usually he sees nothing ahead but success. Last year before the Saint game with Long Beach (the best high school team that has played in the Coast Prep league since Santa Ana's '31 champions) Foote bluntly predicted a Santa Ana victory. Long Beach won, 32-6.

You never can believe a football coach during football season. Even those whose word is as good as a gold bond sometimes say yes and mean no during the autumn grind.

Does Little Bill Foote see a chance for a tremendous Santa Ana upset in the Hiller stadium, where he buried so many Saint championships?

USE TELEVISION IN BRITISH GOLF PLAY

LONDON, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Television broadcast its first golf match today. Every play was watched by spectators comfortably seated in a studio eight miles from the course.

The British Broadcasting company gave the spectators a big laugh when Archie Compston, golf coach of King Edward VIII, became stymied. They clearly saw the look of disgust on his face and heard his grunt of annoyance.

The pictures were reproduced on a studio screen 10 by 8 inches square, by a television camera which followed the players.

'Ripper' Collins And Parmelee Join Cubs

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—(UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals today "broke" the first of the big post-season deals expected to take place in major league player marts when they announced the trade of First Baseman Jimmy ("Ripper") Collins and Pitcher Leroy Parmelee to the Chicago Cubs for Lonnie Warneke, Cubs' star hurler.

Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis club, said the deal was a straightaway player exchange, with no money involved.

"I feel we receive the better end of the bargain," Breadon said, "and that Warneke will pitch us to the National league pennant next year."

Warneke, 28, joined the Cubs in 1931 when Rogers Hornsby was manager. He won 16 and lost 13 for the Cubs this year, his best season having been in 1932 when he won 22 and lost 6.

Parmelee, who won 11 and lost the same number for the Cards this year, was obtained by them from the Giants last winter in exchange for second baseman Burgess Whitehead.

Collins had been regular first baseman for the Cards since 1931. His best year was in 1934 when he received the news of the trade—First Baseman "Ripper" Collins and Pitcher Leroy Parmelee for Warneke—and shut off the "cold" long enough to shout:

"Any comment would involve a comparison of ball players. I never do that. Ol Diz probably will have something to say."

But Ol Diz kept right on sleeping—and snoring.

"Jay worked hard last night," Mrs. Dean explained as she guarded the door of his sleeping quarters. "He fanned 12 men in an exhibition game and although his team lost 3-0, he is real tired."

"Pepper" Martin, Dean's co-star on his exhibition tour, the Cardinal third baseman and utility outfielder, did meet the press.

Through a shower curtain he received the news of the trade—First Baseman "Ripper" Collins and Pitcher Leroy Parmelee for Warneke—and shut off the "cold" long enough to shout:

"Any comment would involve a comparison of ball players. I never do that. Ol Diz probably will have something to say."

But Ol Diz kept right on sleeping—and snoring.

RUMORS: BOB FELLER TO BE FREE AGENT; O'NEILL THROUGH; DRESSEN QUIT'S REDS

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A record crop of rumors flooded the baseball world today.

None is guaranteed, but where there's smoke there's fire and here they are:

Bob Feller, Cleveland's sensational 17-year-old schoolboy pitcher, will be declared a free agent by Commissioner K. M. Landis.

That decision would result in the greatest one-man auction in the game's history. The million-dollar Boston Red Sox and the world champion New York Yankees will match their bulging bankrolls for Feller's services.

With the Red Sox, led by Billy Evans, former Cleveland general manager and original discoverer of Feller, favored to win, a victory will result in the dismissal of General Manager C. C. Slapnicka and Field Manager Steve O'Neill by the Indians.

Baseball's forgotten man, Babe Ruth, will be installed as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, succeeding the departed Casey Stengel, when Col. Tillinghast Huston, former part owner of the Yankees, completes negotiations to purchase the Flatbush franchise.

Coach Hans Lobert will succeed Jimmy Wilson as manager of the lowly Phillies. Wilson probably will go to Pittsburgh as catcher, a desperate need of the Pirates.

"Chuck" Dresen, regarded as the best developer of young talent in baseball, will quit as manager of the Cincinnati Reds in a general shakeup, which already has resulted in the resignation of Larry McPhail.

Rogers Hornsby, because of a contract which has two years to run, will continue the hopeless task of trying to bring the St. Louis Browns out of baseball's wilderness.

News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — The inner attitude of the crowd around President Roosevelt has changed perceptibly within the last week. Old apprehensions about the election are fading. They may be fooling themselves, but they are going to be the most surprised politicians in the U. S. if the Literary Digest poll is right.

These boys are too old to believe in speeches. Their trust wisely rests in such practical matters as organization. What makes them feel good right now is the accumulation of such carefully planned organization maneuvers as these: The Minnesota deal, forming an alliance with the Farmer-Laborites; the Couzens conversion in Michigan; split of Republican electors in Delaware; the personal drafting and nomination of Governor Lehman in New York; the John L. Lewis labor alliance and its possible effects in West Virginia, Illinois and Pennsylvania; the La Follette alliance in Wisconsin; the ditching of governor Davis in Ohio.

These are not all, but they are enough to explain why the White House coterie now feels better. If there is anything else they can do, they have not discovered it yet.

SELF-CONTAINMENT
Treasury Secretary Morgenthau exuded an icy stare when the news came that Mussolini had devalued. There was no cheering, no comment.

It is always advisable not to make up your mind about events in Italy until you receive the text of official statements, and sometimes it is not even possible then to conclude what has happened. There is an additional reason why officials here first considered any new monkeyshines on the part of Mussolini or Hitler as irrelevant. If not immaterial, Mussolini has a greater variety of assorted lire than the average candy shop has different kinds of chocolates. They were not permitted to be exported or used freely in international exchange. Hitler has even a stronger ban on exportation of marks or gold.

The truth is these two countries dare not let their money go freely up against the monies of the world. Their gold weakness permits them to adjust their currencies to the dollar only artificially and theoretically.

Consequently, what they do does not make much difference to anyone except themselves.

20,000 ANTS—
Barnstormers with Governor Landon continue to complain about personal friction within the top organization. What one eminent Landon authority said about it weeks ago still holds true, namely: "There are 20,000 ants on the log and each one thinks he is guiding the log."

There are lots of little stories— one adviser pocketed some speech recommendations of other advisers and kept them from the candidate, the superior manner of one foremost adviser has discouraged his helpers, etc.

These situations are always prevalent on the inside of large campaign organizations. They are present within the Roosevelt inner circle, where the president's own secretariat was anything but one happy family from the beginning.

The effect on White House efficiency has not been noticeable, and the effect on the Landon organization is probably being over-estimated.

FIGURING—
The Democrats seem to be better at figures than the Republicans. Not only have they been able to calculate the debt increase at $8,000,000,000 instead of $14,000,000,000, as carried on the treasury statement, but they can prove from the Digest poll that Mr. Roosevelt will win.

Here is the way one of the workers around headquarters did it rather logically with the Digest results of a recent week:

Landon's straw total 438,601
Total Hoover vote from '32 362,955
Landon's straw gain 75,646
Roosevelt's straw total 282,524
Total Roosevelt '32 straw 290,675
Roosevelt's straw loss 8,151

Now if you take the indicated ratio of Landon's gain over the Hoover straw vote and apply it to the 15,816,000 actual votes which Hoover polled in the 1932 election, you will compute the total indicated Landon vote at 19,016,000.

Doing the same thing with the Roosevelt loss will give you an indicated total of 22,182,012 votes for him this year.

The result is a popular vote lead of 3,165,952 for Roosevelt out of a straw poll which shows him to be losing 2 to 1, and no one can object to the logic of the deduction.

And so on, far, far into the night.

Family Reunion Set for Sunday

On Sunday a family reunion is being held at Long Beach at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Benson, where her brother, Carmel Grana, and wife, of Los Angeles; brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Stanley, and daughter, of Anaheim; brother, Peter Grana, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grana, and the visitor will form the family party.

The occasion will mark the birthday anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Grana. Mr. and Mrs. Grana.

and the Stanley family joined in a dinner observing the 12th anniversary of Bobbie Benson at the Benson home recently.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7.—Death of Irving Thalberg struck a crushing blow under Hollywood's heart. More than a smart producer and fellow beloved, he was a respected man. That means so much here.

But it is not with Thalberg (God rest him) that I am concerned. My thoughts center on his lovely wife, Norma Shearer. What will be the effect on her? Where will her career go from here? To my mind, her future is the biggest problem in Hollywood today. Long known as a clever woman, the time has arrived when she must prove it.

As wife of the industry's most powerful young executive, she had things pretty much her own way. She was "first lady" at MGM, where Garbo, Joan Crawford, Myrna Loy, Jean Harlow and other great stars hold forth. It is common knowledge that she was the most pampered, most publicized actress on that lot. Millions of dollars were spent to exploit her to box office leadership. Infinite care and preparation went into each Norma Shearer picture. No star, unless it was Marion Davies, had such latitude in selection of stories and casts, nor so much money to spend.

Norma is gracious, and I for one hope her bright career will continue undiminished. I hope the wisdom which has guided her studio affairs since she became Mrs. Thalberg was as much hers as his. Her real climb to the top of the Hollywood heap commenced after marriage; perhaps she may have imbibed some of the brilliant generalship of the man who was regarded, almost without competition, as the industry's smartest showman.

Nat Pendleton, "beeg muscled guy," has a pet in proportion, a Great Dane which he has trained to jump over peoples' heads on a signal from his master. It is a good trick that usually gets startled yelps from victims, but the other day it boomeranged.

Pendleton had invited to his home a radio producer with whom he was dickering for an ether contract. While they were talking, Nat signaled the dog which promptly went into his act. But the floor was slippery, and instead of clearing the official the dog cracked him squarely on the jaw, knocked him colder than a Republican's opinion of the New Deal. Returned to consciousness, the radio executive left in a huff, and not for days would he see Pendleton, this time in his own office.

Another animal story for you, to follow the one about Nat's Great Dane. Binnie Barnes week-ended to Yosemite where she did as do most tourists—she fed the wild animals. Among these was a big bear, tamed to the extent of eating from visitors' hands, but still instinctively wild. As the bear approached, Binnie became frightened and backed away. Bruin followed. Binnie, now thoroughly frightened, turned and walked faster. On came the bear, convinced he was being cheated of food. He growled his chagrin, and with that Miss Barnes dismissed all shame and ran. It must have been quite a sight, a movie star chased by a bear. A mountain ranger "saved" Binnie by tossing a block of wood at the beast.

Had I been there, I could never have resisted the temptation to shout, "Quit running! All he wants is an autograph!" Likely I would have had Binnie, worse than any bear, clawing at my eyes.

worse each day. My stomach simply refused to digest foods properly, gas would form and I bloated dreadfully, heart burned and I was kept in constant misery. Nothing I ate would agree with me. My kidneys became disordered too and I was never without a severe pain across my back which extended down into my limbs. I was terribly nervous too but there was little I could do about it as everything I tried failed—until I finally began this new Gly-Cas—it went to the source of my health troubles as if made for me alone.

"Gly-Cas is a medicine of TRUE ability," he continued, "Never have I seen a medicine do its work as well before. It is hardly short of being miraculous. I am now regaining my former weight and strength, my appetite has been restored, kidneys normal, my nerves have been quieted and I sleep fine. Little did I realize any medicine could give me such remarkable results—no wonder Gly-Cas is such a popular medicine today."

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy Drug Company, 108 W. Fourth street, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OF REGISTERED
VOTERS SHOWN

Orange county's startling political swing from right to left, over the past 10 years is observed in a comparison of party registration figures of today with those of 10 years ago, 1926.

Ten years ago, Orange county was better than 3 to 1 Republican. Six years ago the ratio was even greater—more than 3-1-2 to 1 on the Republican side. Today, the county is 5 to 4 Democratic, so far as registration is concerned, though most political observers are predicting a swing back to the right in the actual November voting.

Ten years ago, in 1926, the Republican registration was 29,243, or more than today, although total registration today, 65,954, is nearly 60 per cent above the 1926 total, which was 41,726. Today, the Republican registration is 25,805.

The Democratic registration ten years ago was 9,194. Today the Democrats have more than that registered in Santa Ana alone—10,016—while the total county Democratic registration is 25,222.

The high point of Republican leadership was in 1930, six years ago, when the Republicans led the Democrats, 37,154 to 10,692.

The big left swing started four years ago, in 1932, when the Democrats ran their total up to 21,712.

The Republicans also showed a slight gain over 1930, with 37,921, but that was the last time. In 1934 the Republican total dropped to 34,117, and the Democratic registration grew to 29,994.

Then, this year, the Democrats swept into the lead with 35,222 to the Republican 28,805, a margin of 6,417.

The greatest gain in total registration was during the two-year period from 1926 to 1928, when the total jumped from 41,726 to 51,091. In 1930 it dropped to 50,304, and in 1932 leaped back to 62,306. In 1934 it was 66,403, the all time record.

"LIGHT ON PARADE" STARS

Feminine decorations will add much to the charm of "Light on Parade," electrical spectacle on downtown streets of Los Angeles tomorrow night when "Boulder Power Inaugural" welcomes first flash of power from the distant Colorado river. Beautiful girls, such as these, will adorn rainbow-hued floats, which will fill the streets with colorful illumination.

"BOULDER POWER INAUGURAL"
TO BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

Last minute plans are being completed for the great "Light on Parade" spectacle in Los Angeles Friday night, marking the advent of the first flash of electric energy from Boulder Dam.

It will be the most magnificent light spectacle ever seen in any city in the world, it is stated. Beautiful floats, scores of pretty girls, mounted police, bands, bugle and drum corps, marching units in pioneer costumes, electrical units and other features make up a great three mile long pageant. Providing a proper setting is an illuminative scheme in which billions of candle-power lights will give the downtown Los Angeles section a brilliance that will be seen for many miles in all directions.

Announcement is made that the parade will start from Washington street and Broadway at 7:50 o'clock. It will proceed up Broadway to First, thence to Spring street and past the City Hall. Out of town visitors need not enter the downtown section but may see the parade to good advantage anywhere on Broadway south to Washington.

The ceremonies at Civic Center start at 7 o'clock with Mayor Frank L. Shaw presiding. Short speeches will be made by many notable guests. The electric energy signaling the first electricity from Boulder Dam will flash at 7:36 o'clock, it is stated.

Following the inaugural ceremonies the Electric Age Exposition will open Saturday at Pan-Pacific Auditorium for a nine-day run. Here will be displayed electrical units, gadgets, household appliances of every description, in addition to demonstrations by wizards of electricity. Cooking schools, a wealth of ear and eye entertainment and other features make up a tremendous program with something doing constantly.

PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OF COUNTY ANSWERS QUESTIONS

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles written by the publicity committee of the Orange County Protective Association, (an Association of Orange County Growers and Shippers). It is the purpose of these articles to answer some of the many questions being asked daily as to the causes underlying the labor disturbances in agriculture. Do the majority of workers want to strike? Are the Communists active in these strikes? Are any other radicals connected with them? What are the factors behind the scenes? What has agriculture done about this all too serious situation?

Orange county is basically an agricultural area. The gross income from its agricultural products in 1935 exceeded $30,000,000.00. This income was below the seven year average of over $35,000,000.00 for the seven depression years beginning with 1929. Of this total income over two-thirds is derived from citrus products, the balance from other orchard crops, truck crops, field crops, nursery and livestock. From the income of its agricultural products this county receives directly and indirectly its largest tax income, our merchants receive their largest patronage and the greatest number of people receive their employment and livelihood. The problems of agriculture, their solutions, and their effect upon the industry effect materially the economic conditions of the county as a whole. We growers believe that the residents not actually engaged in agricultural pursuits should be and are interested in our problems and from that viewpoint present to you our newest problem.

In the past and today we have had the problems of pest control, water supply with its diminishing supply and increasing costs, marketing conditions, excessive taxes, and others to deal with. These problems have all contributed to conditions that have made red ink much more prevalent than profit during the years named.

Other factors that we must consider are those of competition. Competition to California crops which are shipped out of the state to eastern markets comes mostly from Florida, Texas, and other southern states. Costs of production in those states are less than they are here. Those areas do not have to irrigate, their pest control problems are fewer and less expensive, they are closer to the markets making transportation costs less, and they pay their agricultural workers much lower wages than we do.

Irrespective of whether the growers make or lose money their overhead goes on just the same for he and his family must live. Just as many people must be employed and he must still control pests, irrigate, fertilize, pay taxes, purchase equipment and continue with his normal expenses. That difference between profit and loss, however is reflected in the business of the county as the difference between poor or ordinary business conditions and good business conditions.

Overhead expenses have now attained such proportions in relation to prices received for products various ages. A large number of people enjoyed the presentation last week. Both classes are open for more enrollments. While the greatest good results from regular attendance, the work is so arranged that single lectures are complete in themselves. Both classes are presented by department of adult education of the city schools in cooperation with the Y. W. C. A. and the PTA.

that any appreciable increase in costs could well be disastrous and such an increase can readily be foreseen in the apparent rise in strike activities among the agricultural employees. Such strikes are not only costly in themselves but they often cause large market losses. From many available sources we have obtained a mass of information which has been studied and from which we have selected those portions which we believe are accurate and of value in giving as clear a picture as possible, as briefly as possible of the history and existing circumstances pertaining to agricultural labor disputes in the county.

JANET BRIGGS
SPEAKS BEFORE
JAYSEE GROUP

One of the most interesting discussions that will probably ever be held for Santa Ana Junior college students was held this morning in college hall when Miss Janet Briggs, former Santa Ana, discussed with Calvin C. Flint, dean of men, on Europe.

Held in a typical conversational style, Miss Briggs and Mr. Flint were heartily received by the students in the latter's contemporary history class.

The two conversants talked of their mutual experiences in Europe. They discussed European politics, economical problems, and social problems.

Miss Briggs graduated from Santa Ana High school at the age of 15. She majored in engineering at Stanford university where she later earned her master's degree with honors.

She then earned her doctor's degree in Vienna at the Institute of Higher Learning in metallurgy. During her residence in Europe, Miss Briggs toured the central part of that continent. She spent some time touring the continent on a bicycle.

In conjunction with Dean Flint, Miss Briggs reminisced their various experiences. Miss Briggs is well versed on European politics. Dean Flint expressed the belief that the Junior collegians were very fortunate in obtaining Miss Briggs inasmuch as she is leaving Thursday for Philadelphia where she may take a position in the Miller institute as a research worker, or she may accept a post with General Motors in Cleveland.

Autumn Shades
Lend Charms To Party Details

Those royal purples and golds which lend their vivid beauty to the autumnal landscape, were called in to prominence yesterday by Mrs. A. N. Zerman, in decorative plans for the latest in the series of bridge luncheons which she is adding to the season's social calendar.

Guests received in the Zerman home, 505 South Sycamore street, exclaimed at the loveliness of the flower decorations, in which pompous dahlias were mingled with long sprays of purple sage, with a clear note of green introduced by malden-hair fern. Baskets were arranged all about the home, and to each of the linen-draped luncheon tables, was added a slim vase of bronze, red and gold baby dahlias with sprays of the sage.

To complete this flower garden effect, were small nosegays of the blossoms at each place. Many of the flowers were gifts of friends, and Mrs. Asa Hoffman had sent all of the quantities of purple sage used. Other friends assisted in hostess duties, including Mrs. Anna James and Mrs. Mark Lacy who checked arrivals and bridge scores.

Mrs. Zerman continued the colorful party theme by selecting pottery as her bridge prizes, giving to holders of first and second high score. Mrs. Leonard G. Swales and Mrs. John Zieman, a bean jar to Mrs. W. N. Prince, and a consolation gift of a graceful bowl to Mrs. Lacy.

Harmony Bridge Club

Halloween decorations were in evidence Tuesday afternoon when Harmony Bridge club members were entertained at luncheon in Masonic temple, where Mesdames William Dean and George Shippe were hostesses.

Present were Mesdames John Bruns, Carrie Cole, William Dean, Carlye Dennis, B. E. Dawson, Harvey Dimmitt, Max Gowdy, Glenn Lyman, Claude McFarren, C. A. Rousseau, Alex Rex, Augusta Whisenand, Ray H. Snyder and the two hostesses.

The next meeting will be held October 20 at 2 p. m. in the temple. Members are asked to note that luncheon will not be served.

Mid-year Convention

Dogs of Kennel Show
To Divide Honors
In Aristocracy

If the elite in dogdom is to be represented in the long anticipated dog show to be staged October 17 and 18 in the National Guard armory under auspices of American Legion auxiliary, not one of the pedigreed animals entered need blush for the background of his or her sponsor in the event. For the list of dog owners to take part is quite an imposing one.

For instance the family of Andrew Carnegie is represented by William H. Coleman of Montecito, a nephew of the great financier and philanthropist. No doubt but that the poodles and dachshunds which Mr. Coleman will enter, will gaze with lordly indifference on Santa Ana Public Library. Just the same it is one of the untold thousands of civic buildings in the United States, made by possible by the generosity of their master's family.

Probably the English bulldogs which June Colyer will enter care less than nothing for the screen fame of their mistress. But that fame has made it possible for her to enjoy their aristocratic companionship. Probably if Stuart Erwin or Charles Rogers had never registered success on the motion picture screen, "Stu's" Scottish terriers or "Charlie's" Kerry Blue terriers would be just as loyal to their owners. But would those owners have been the same?

Anyway they are all going to be here for this gala event, as will those beguiling Sealhams which claim Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cameron of Palos Verdes as their proud owners.

Yes, the aristocracy of dogdom will be well represented as a matter of course, but of quite as much interest to students of human nature, will be the aristocracy of those allied worlds of finance, the screen and society.

Returning to his former home city for a party celebrating his seventh birthday, Rudy Story, son of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Story, now of Long Beach, was honor guest at a gala affair which occurred in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Story, 1515 South Broadway.

Games and contests occupied the playmates during the early part of the afternoon, with prizes going to Howard Ballard and Gene Ballow. Pink and white ice cream, punch and decorated birthday cake were served as a climax to other party features.

Present were Buddy Smith, Bobbie Cole, Gene Ballow, Earl Great-house, Jimmie Hird, Marshall Gershon, Howard Ballard, Charles Blanding, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Casaday, Mrs. Lu Hummel, Mrs. James Hird, Mrs. David Gershon, with the hostess, Mrs. Frank Story, and Mrs. Webster Story and Rudy, the birthday celebrant.

The next meeting will be held Friday, November 6 in the home of Mrs. Harry Johnson, 606 South Ross street, where covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Hostess Trio
Gives Shower
For Miss Lamb

Soon to become the bride of George Winter, Miss Lois Lamb is among the busiest of the season's popular brides-elect as she completes her wedding plans and takes prominent part in a whirl of pre-nuptial parties to which another affair was added last night. Hostesses were Mrs. Carleton Smith, Miss Helen Demetriou and Miss Ruth Cummings.

Entertaining in Mrs. Smith's home, 516 West Fifth street, the hostess trio achieved a charming decorative effect through the use of chrysanthemums and zinnias in bouquets. The bright hues of the blossoms were repeated in other appointments for the event, which was given the form of a Spanish party. Hand-blocked tablecloths, furthering the chosen theme were in evidence during bridge play. Mrs. Clyde Higgins, who scored high, received a quaint pair of bookends; Mrs. Alberta Greene, with second high, was rewarded with a cut-out Spanish plaque.

Spanish spaghetti and hot rolls formed the refreshment course served at tables spread with colorful linens and set with pottery. In the wide range of vivid shades, Centerpieces were baby mums and bachelor buttons in pottery bowls.

Spanish figures adorned boxes containing gifts in crystal which guests presented to Miss Lamb. In addition she received a gift of sterling silver from her three hostesses.

Invited to share the affair with Mrs. Smith, Miss Demetriou and Miss Cummings were the hostesses, Miss Lamb and Mesdames Clyde Higgins, Edgar Eisner, Kenneth Curt, Charles E. Winter, Dean Benton, Lloyd Kneeland, Harold Leach, Theola Holmes; the Misses Dorothy Dunbar, Mary Emil Majors, Lucille Howell, Willis Anderson, Florence Turner, Mary Jean Du Bois, Esther Vogt, Dorothy Heiny, Esther Hansen, Mary Jane Baker, Ella Pless, Virginia Golden, Alberta Greene, La Von De Witt.

Post Nuptial Affair
Honors September
Bride

Mrs. Elmer Hoots, who was Miss Mary Yost preceding her marriage in September, was honored at a post nuptial shower staged Tuesday evening when a group of friends assembled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Todd, 710 South Main street.

Games were played and an informal program of music was enjoyed during the evening. Miss Laurie Todd, daughter of the home, had the pleasure of presenting the bride with a large basket filled with prettily wrapped gifts. The packages proved to contain linens in wide variety.

Dahlias, zinnias and goldenrod arranged in tall baskets provided a setting for the affair. An especially lovely cluster of dahlias centered the table from which ice cream, cakes and coffee were served buffet style late in the evening. Fortunes contained in little rice cakes were read aloud, much to the entertainment of all the guests. In serving refreshments, Mrs. Todd had assistance of her daughter, Miss Wynette Todd, and of Mrs. Duane Berge.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John Leonardo and family, Mrs. William Hutchinson, Elvin Hoots, Mrs. William Yost and sons, Lewis and William; the Misses Grace Berge, Dorothy Berge, Evelyn Berge, Yvonne Volck, Mrs. Duane Berge, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Todd and daughters, Laurene and Wynette, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hoots.

College Patrons Group
To Give Tea Next Tuesday

Coming as the first social affair to be staged this year by College Patrons' association will be a tea and reception honoring faculty members next Tuesday afternoon in the women's lounge on the Jaysee campus.

From 2:30 to 4 o'clock will be the hours for this event, which will be open to all members and friends of the organization, it was announced today by the president, Mrs. Neal Bessel. A musical program at 3:15 o'clock will come as a feature of the affair.

Plans for next week's tea were made yesterday afternoon when board members of the association met in the home of the treasurer, Mrs. B. B. Walbridge, 2222 North Main street. It was announced that there will be no business meeting in connection with the tea. All business of the organization is transacted at open meetings of the executive board, so that general sessions are given over to activities of general interest to members and guests.

A plan of work for the year was outlined, with the group deciding to center activities around the Student Loan fund project. Also, the association will act as sponsor of certain public forum programs which emphasize the subjects in which College Patrons' association is especially interested.

Pleasant Hospitality
Extended
Bridge Club Members

Several members of the Wednesday Luncheon club are out of the city, so they were not present yesterday to enjoy the pleasant hospitality with which Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth invested the day's session in her home, 2219 North Broadway.

The hostess had given much thought to appointments of her luncheon table and her guests appreciated the beauty of the polished mahogany gleaming through luncheon places, and the creamy pottery bowl for mellow tendrils of flower-starred antignon vine trailed between matching pottery ornaments. Mrs. Farnsworth was assisted in serving the tempting menu by her sister, Miss Mary Thompson.

In contract play of the afternoon, first and second high scores were made by Mrs. Philip Hatzfeld and Mrs. A. G. Flagg. Members present with the hostess, Mrs. Farnsworth, were Mesdames George S. Briggs, A. G. Flagg, Roy Hall, Irwin F. Landis, Parke Roper, Philip Hatzfeld, Charles V. Davis and James Harding. Absentees were Mrs. Earl Morrow, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. Robert Tuthill.

Dinner Party Planned
As Compliment to Miss Pless

Latest in the series of pleasant courtesies extended Miss Ella Pless in advance of her November 1 wedding to George B. Berenson, was a formal dinner party at which Miss Alma Karlsson was hostess last night in her home, 2120 North Ross street.

In planning the evening's hospitality, Miss Karlsson called together the co-workers of her home or guest in the county welfare department where the hostess herself is investigator. However, problems of their work were laid aside by all the guests, and were speedily forgotten in the enjoyment of the home and of the plans of their hostesses.

In arranging her dinner table, Miss Karlsson gave emphasis to a blue and white decorative effect to correspond with the priceless heirloom dinner service of Chelsea china. Her candles were in exactly the same clear, lucent blue, and delphiniums were mingled with the white button chrysanthemums and pompom dahlias of the flower centerpiece.

Covers were laid for Miss Karlsson and Miss Damaris Beaman of the home. Miss Pless, bride-honoree, her mother, Mrs. M. M. Pless, the Misses Marguerite Harden, Juanita Snyder, Marian Shaley, Louise Comito, Prudence Drews, Mrs. Evelyn Wilson, Mrs. Gladys Oberlin and Mrs. Evelyn Webber.

Guests later discovered that their dinner cards also indicated places for the games program, which included both bridge and monopoly. Instead of going for high score, the evening's prize of dainty guest towels formed a guest prize for Miss Pless to add to her supply of bridal linens.

Layette Shower Comes As Feature of
Mayflower Club Event

Sharing a pleasant affair Tuesday afternoon as guests in the home of Mrs. E. E. Frisby, 1012 Kilson Drive, members of Mayflower club joined in staging a surprise shower in compliment to Mrs. Archie Perkins.

Mrs. Frisby and Mrs. W. R. Ford were co-hostesses, decorating the home with flowers which furthered a pink and blue motif. Layette shower gifts for Mrs. Perkins were piled high in a basket decorated with pink and blue crepe paper.

Cards and sewing occupied the group for part of the afternoon. During a short business interval, plans were made to hold a covered-dish luncheon November 3 in the home of Mrs. A. C. Wiebe, 819 East Fifth street, with Mrs. C. W. Rowland as co-hostess.

Refreshments served on individual trays brought the happy afternoon to a close.

Guests were Mrs. M. K. Kellogg, Miss Elizabeth Perkins, this city; Mrs. Kenneth Bell and son, Donald, San Bernardino. Members sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Frisby and Mrs. Ford were Mesdames Edward Coehms, Laura Sanborn, F. W. Sanford and daughter, Joan, J. H. Parkinson, A. C. Wiebe, J. H. Patterson, P. T. Isherwood, Archie Perkins, Fannie Cunningham, V. C. Shidler, W. A. Maryme, all of this city; Mrs. Sarah Maryme and Mrs. C. W. Copeland, Bellflower; Mrs. Harvey Springer and granddaughter, Norma Jean, San Bernardino.

Among the community's successful deer hunters this season were James S. Sweet, Therman Means, Myron Warner, Harold Warner, Sam Teel and Sam Teel Jr., who joined as hosts at a venison dinner recently at Jack Fisher park.

Although the delicious dinner in the charming outdoor setting proved a highlight of the evening, there was still another feature which proved of great interest to the group. This was the display of pictures taken of the deer hunting trip to Modoc county, as well as pictures of the new San Francisco bridge which the group of hunters visited while in the north.

Sharing the affair were Messrs. and Mesdames Wallace Bingham, Jesse Gubi, and daughter, Muriel; Delbert Wilkinson, Kenneth Ulrich and daughter, Sheryl Ann; Sam Teel, James S. Sweet, Harold Warner, Myron Warner, Roy Ivins, Irving Cleveland and family; Mrs. Teel's mother, Mrs. Kimball; Ralph W. H. Mize, with Mr. and Mrs. Preston Larson, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, who have been visiting here for the past few days, expected to leave today for their home in Arizona.

Brides Share Honors
With Birthday
Group

Two recent brides and three birthday celebrants shared honors Wednesday night at a dinner party which had its setting in the home of Mrs. W. A. West, West Seventeenth street.

Mrs. Henry Wallace (Leola Lee) of Thatcher, Ariz., and Mrs. Eugene Brookbank (Dorothy Cramford) were the brides complimented at the affair. Mrs. West, Mrs. T. Dixon and Mr. Brookbank, with October birthday anniversaries, completed the honored group.

Southern style chicken dinner was served in five courses. Included with the dessert were whipped cream topped cakes which were placed before the two brides. There were gifts for Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Brookbank, and for the birthday celebrants as well.

Sharing the affair were Mr. and Mrs. West, Mr. and Mrs. Brookbank, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mize, with Mr. and Mrs. Preston Larson, of Los Angeles.

DEPUTY NAMED AT MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

ORANGE, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Orlo Barger was appointed deputy city treasurer and water collector at a meeting of the city council last night, the appointment being made owing to illness of the city treasurer, Mrs. Emma J. Pruitt, and the coming vacation of Miss Myrtle Schaefer, who is serving as deputy for the two positions.

The council refused to take sides by endorsement of two amendments to appear on the November ballot, these relating to tideland drilling and local option.

A resolution setting aside the north half of the block on North Orange street, between Maple and Palm streets, as a two hour parking space was passed after complaints were read from Miss Adelaide Proctor, music teacher, and Miss Lulu Kenyo, operator of a dress shop, that high school pupils were monopolizing the street for parking, and causing inconvenience to their businesses.

The abandonment of Lincoln avenue and East Almond street, from Century drive to Tustin street, was asked by Mr. Hellickson, owner of acreage in that locality. The city refused the request, but gave him permission to farm the city owned ground. The streets have never been cut through.

Ben Dierker, city park superintendent, announced that tile, contracted for from the Owens Roofing company, to be used in the bath house, has not been delivered, and that the manager refuses delivery unless $2 more per square yard is paid by the city than the agreed price. The tile was contracted for last May. The matter was turned over to City Attorney Gordon X. Richmond.

The repairs needed on the joint outfall sewer were explained by Councilman Sal D. Lester, member of the outfall sewer committee. He stated that for the city's portion of a proposed four miles of replacement, the cost would be about $12,000. He was instructed to cast a vote in committee favoring for use 42 inch pipe, to be made of vitrified tile.

An allowance of $10 per month for the use of his car was granted by A. E. Fox, making a survey of city water lines as a WPA project. The work was started last year, discontinued for several months, and will be completed in about four months. It was announced by C. C. Bonebrake, city engineer.

TAX MEASURE OUTLINED FOR SERVICE CLUB

ORANGE, Oct. 8.—Declaring that 95 per cent of the wealth of the nation is in the hands of five great financial units and that there is no greater incentive to communism than such an existing condition, Joseph V. Guilfoyle, managing director of the Southern California Retail Hardware association, spoke to members of the Orange Lions club yesterday on the subject of the chain store tax as provided for in referendum measure No. 22 on the ballot at the November election.

The speaker explained the proposed chain store tax which provides for the pyramiding tax culminating in a $500 annual tax on the tenth store, a similar tax for every store following the tenth in the chain. This tax really means but a tax of $1.37 a day on each store of a chain of 10 stores, or two per cent of the volume of sales for the larger chains and four per cent for the small bakery and candy chains, he said.

Guilfoyle denied the statement that the proposed chain store tax would increase prices, pointing out that such has not been the case in the 23 states of the union where such a tax is in effect. The bill proposed, said the speaker, is practically identical with one in effect in West Virginia.

The speaker presented figures which he stated proved that the chain stores pay less taxes to the state than individually owned stores, the per cent of taxes being paid by the chain store being but four per cent while the individually owned stores pay 28 per cent.

The proposed tax, he said, is an effort to make the chain stores pay just taxes in the state of California.

The United States leads all other countries in the trapping of furbearing animals and in fur production. It also imports more rare and expensive furs than any other country.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

In a wartime prison camp the authorities had in one building of the camp a room in which were stored the arms and ammunition of enemy captives. In this room were twelve baskets and one day there happened to be one pistol in each basket. A sergeant in charge of the supplies suggested a puzzle. He said to a private, "Start at any basket, going in one direction, take one pistol, pass it over two other pistols and place it in the next basket. Take another pistol, pass it over two pistols and place it in a basket. Continue this, removing only six pistols, and when these have been placed there should be two pistols in each of six baskets and six baskets empty. It does not matter whether the two pistols passed over are in one or two baskets nor how many empty baskets you pass. You must go in one direction and end where you started." If you can do this in four rounds you are good, if in three rounds you are excellent. Try coins or something.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S TWIZZLER

It would take sixty-six seconds to strike twelve. There are five intervals between one and six. If it took thirty seconds each interval was six seconds. There are eleven intervals between one and twelve—sixty-six seconds. (Copyright John F. Dille Company)

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

400 YEARS AHEAD OF HIS TIME

MORE than 400 years ago a famous Dutch scholar proposed for world peace what only recently was attempted with sorry results—the League of Nations and the World Court.

The man was Desiderius Erasmus, great humanist, teacher and philosopher.

Monks would buy his picture merely for the pleasure of spitting upon it, and he was placed upon the Catholic Church's "Index of Prohibited Authors" because he dared to criticize the church.

Erasmus was born at Rotterdam in 1467. Educated in the schools of Holland, and trained by travel through England and Europe, he became one of the most widely read scholars of his time. He was a modernist, a progressive thinker, and a profound Latin and Greek scholar. In his later years he retired to Basel, Switzerland, where he wrote much of his great works. He died there in 1536, at the age of 69.

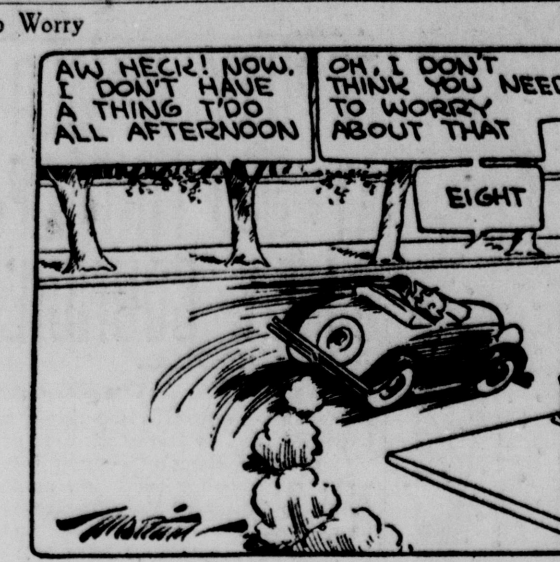

Holland recently issued a stamp, on the 400th anniversary of his death, bearing the famous portrait of Erasmus by the great Dutch Master, Holbein.

Laguna Council Delays Action On Players' Offer

STATE PERMITS CITY TO EXCEED ANNUAL BUDGET

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 8.—The city council last night took under advisement the offer of the Community players, submitted by Perry McCullough, secretary, to sell the players' property to the city for approximately $4100, this sum being slightly in excess of $1000 over in encumbrances, the excess sum being intended as a fund to enable the players to carry on their activities.

While the reaction of the council, as judged by comments from Mayor Luther F. Mallow and Councilman Howard C. Heiser, seemed favorable, it was thought that instead of a $1000 lump sum, a rental equivalent might be worked out. Definite action will be taken later.

On behalf of the Bank of America, Frank D. Hever, manager of the local branch, asked for return of the business license fee of $25 recently paid; the payment, Mr. Hever's letter stated, was in error, inasmuch as Federal banks were immune, under the law, from local taxes. Mayor Mallow opined that inasmuch as institutions similar to the local bank derived local benefit, they should pay local taxes. The communication was ordered filed.

Echoes of the recent bathing suit controversy resounded, when a communication was read from the University Women's club of Laguna Beach was read, asking the council to take steps to handle the question of over-crowded suits before next season opens. The communication was ordered filed.

Considerable discussion followed reading of a communication from H. R. Stephens, asking that his tax stand be officially designated and marked. The applicant occupies space at the southeast corner of Ocean avenue and Coast Boulevard south. The required designation, subject to revocation under police regulations, was conferred upon Stephens' stand.

The city received authorization from the State Board of Equalization to exceed by $8,718.54 its budget for 1936-1937, it being understood that the excess authorized was an "emergency" one, and not to be included in the total to be submitted for 1937-1938. The excess, also, was specified as applicable towards the recent retirement of Matton bonds in Broadway Improvement district.

The City Planning Commission, by its secretary, Mrs. L. F. Kimball, asked that an "informal agreement," heretofore entered into with Donald Mackenzie Brown Jr., be validated by a legal contract. Brown's services, in drawing up a "survey map" of Laguna Beach, to be used in the work of the Planning Commission, were recently authorized. The matter of a contract was referred to City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey for opinion and advice.

The request filed some two months ago, on behalf of John Bechtold, for a bus franchise in and within the city limits, was denied.

Carnival Of P. T.-A. Held On Saturday

TUSTIN, Oct. 8.—The fall carnival, sponsored by the Tustin Grammar School P. T. A., will be held at 7 p. m. Saturday evening in the main building of the grammar school. The larger quarters were chosen because of the large attendance at last year's festival which made the primary building inadequate.

An entertainment of songs, readings and dances by the school children under the direction of Mrs. Effie J. Matthews will be supplemented by a movie reel shown throughout the evening. There will be a costume parade of children with prizes for the first and second prettiest costumes and for the first and second funniest outfits.

Other attractions will include a fish pond, bowling alley, movies and candy, popcorn, orange juice and food booths. A special feature will be the booth containing the Dionne babies. Mrs. Orville Northrup, budget chairman, is general chairman in charge of arrangements for the benefit event.

INJURY FUND IS SOUGHT IN BREA

BREA, Oct. 8.—With two of its football players seriously injured this year, "Chuck" Robinson with a bruised ankle and Harold Nelson with a broken ankle, the student body of Brea-Olinda Union High school has hailed with approval the plan of the Brea Junior Chamber of Commerce to aid in establishing a fund for assistance in such contingencies.

The offer was made through the principal, C. O. Harvey, at a meeting of the student body this week. When completely formulated the plan is to cover all students and to operate whether the injury is received on the athletic field or on any other part of the school grounds.

Co-operating for the movement is a committee comprising Forest Hurst, president; Gerald Burch, Norman Leroy and Jack Pate, of the junior chamber; Edward W. Curtis, president of the high school board; C. O. Harvey, principal of the school; Bruce Gordon, president of the student body; Dick Barman, junior class president, and Jean Sage, president of the Girls' Athletic association.

In this objective, the first activity will be a dance, arranged for the evening of October 23. Ralph E. Barnes will arrange for music.

Farm Center To Elect Officers

PLACENTIA, Oct. 8.—New officers will be elected and plans for the coming year's work discussed at the Placentia Farm center meeting at the Halber cafe at 6:30 o'clock Friday night, according to announcement of Daniel S. Halladay, president.

No formal program has been arranged so as to provide time for the members to discuss programs, ways and means of adding to the membership and for informing people of the purposes and activities of the organization.

She was introduced by Mrs. Margaret Elliott, program chairman of the day. Miss Mary Campbell presided, and Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Edith Curtis were assisting hostesses.

WOMAN'S CLUB OF PLACENTIA OPENS SEASON

PLACENTIA, Oct. 8.—Associate members of the Placentia Round Table club were honor guests when Mrs. Verne L. Adams, new president, was in charge of her first meeting Wednesday afternoon. Marguerite Harrison, lecturer and international newspaper reporter, was speaker.

The speaker outlined her experiences in Germany, in Russia and other lands and suggested that today Communism does not prevail in Russia, but that capitalism prevails, providing for just the same conditions as exist in Germany and Italy. She said she was in Russia during the period of the trial of Communism.

Conditions in Germany are a result of the Versailles treaty which, she said, is the most unfair treaty ever made. In Spain, the revolt places the country in such a position that whoever wins, the Democracy of Spain loses, she said.

Mrs. E. J. Power, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Mrs. V. Ashley Doss, of Fullerton, music chairman, presented Kathryn and Ellen Collins, of Anaheim, who sang a duet group, with Miss Elizabeth Hunsicker of Anaheim accompanying at the piano. Miss Hunsicker played a group of piano numbers, also.

Mrs. Adams and her executive board were hostesses. Assisting her were Mrs. LeRoy Lyon, first vice president; Mrs. Halsey I. Spence of Fullerton, second vice president; Mrs. A. M. Christensen, recording secretary; Mrs. C. C. Chapman, Fullerton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. J. Travers, Fullerton, financial secretary; Mrs. Fred Cline, treasurer; Miss Emily Cuff, critic; Mrs. W. C. McFarland, historian, and Mrs. Lily Strain Frank, parliamentarian.

REVOLT CAUSES IN SPAIN TOLD CLUB

ANAHEIM, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Madara Holt addressed members of the Anaheim Junior Ebell club Tuesday evening at the Richards-Martin dance studio on current events and recent books.

Mrs. Holt, who was born in a Siam jungle province, explained the causes of revolt in Spain which she termed the outcome of an "inferior complex" built up through the loss of colonies since 1492.

The speaker, who traveled last summer in Mexico, told her audience of the country and people. Through her talk she referred to recent books, giving brief reviews. This was the first meeting of the club year and was presided over by Mrs. Kenneth Walker. Miss Sally Newkirk was program chairman. Miss Florence Backa, past president, and Mrs. Walker were at the urns for the refreshments which followed the meeting. Miss Helen Koelsch, Miss Newkirk, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Robert Rossberg, Miss Peggy Paiko, Mrs. Charlton Tucker, Mrs. Waldo Wilbern, Mrs. Richard Ryan and Mrs. Wes Visel served refreshments.

Kate

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MAJOR SAM MEED, kindly, indolent old southern gentleman, lives on a run-down Blue Grass farm with his two orphaned granddaughters, CAROLINE MEED and KATHERINE MEED, called Kate. Family finances are a constant problem, complicated by the fact that the Major often wastes his money on drink.

Kate is engaged to MORGAN PRENTISS, son of a prominent lawyer, who lives in the nearby town of Shelby. On a shopping trip she encounters Morgan. Her pleasure at seeing him is dimmed when he tells her that EVE ELWELL is bringing a guest home from college and he has promised to help entertain her. Kate conceals the hurt she feels, refuses to admit to herself that she is jealous of Eve.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"MEED MEADOWS" was five miles west of town on the road leading toward Louisville. The approach was a woodland-pasture, lush with unkempt blue grass, dotted with spreading trees of oak and beech and hard maple, walnut and hickory. Beyond this, and enclosed in a yard with an iron fence, was the house—square, red brick and Georgian, its beautiful lines rising triumphant and serene over the neglect of the years.

As Kate drove near, her older sister, Caroline, came to open the yard gate for her. Kate called out, "Thanks, Celine!" and drove back to the garage, once the carriage house.

From the kitchen came an elderly Negro woman to help the girl with the parcels. "I think I got everything, Althy," Kate said as they went toward the kitchen. "I mean everything but vanilla. I ran out of money and you know we can't charge any more. Our bills are six months overdue everywhere."

Althy nodded. "Don't matter 'bout the vanilla," she said soothingly. "We kin havah vitt corn-cob boilin', same as we been doin'." The old woman had, in fact, a way of getting a fairly palatable extract from the residue of certain cobs which she boiled down, though Kate and Caroline were very tired of the insipid extract. "But nevah mind, honey," she added with a wise wink, "we gets ourselves some vanilla waddin' fore time to make yoa wedding cake."

Kate laughed. "You won't have to be in a hurry about it, Althy. I'm not thinking of leaving you soon."

She went through the house to the front porch where Caroline sat in a hickory rocker, doing the family mending. "Well, darling," she asked her breezily, "can you still find two stockings that match?" Caroline smiled and made a wry face. "Just," she answered. "What's going on in town?" Kate examined a loose button on her coat. "The college crowd's getting home," she said casually. "Eve Elwell's been seen and heard as usual. Has a girl from St. Paul visiting her. Somebody who goes to college with her, named Barbara Lodge."

"Did you see Morgan?" asked Caroline, eyes on her mending. Kate tossed a pillow on the top step of the porch and sat down. "I ran into him on the street. We had a limeade together. . . He's not coming out tonight," she added as if it were an unimportant afterthought. "He's tied up all weekend with Eve's gang."

CAROLINE spoke up, loyally, respectfully: "What right has Eve

Elwell to ask Morgan and leave you out? Doesn't she know you're engaged to him?" Her gentle, softly-moulded face was lighted by wrath.

"Now don't let's start a family feud, Caroline," Kate protested. "Let's skip it." She was afraid that in just a moment it would occur to Caroline to ask, "What right has Morgan to tie himself up for a whole week-end when he belongs to you?" It was just a step from blaming Eve to blaming Morgan. Kate had carefully refrained from taking that step. She now recited a plausible excuse for her lover.

"With Judge Prentiss and Mr. Elwell law partners, they're almost like one family, don't you see? Eve's always felt free to call on Morgan when she got in a pinch. There aren't as many eligible men in the county as there used to be. Mostly kids—"

Caroline bit off a thread. "Is an engaged man counted as eligible these days?" she asked innocently.

"Oh, for heaven's sake, Caroline!" Kate exploded. "I mean eligible for a few days. Eve wants that girl from up north to have a good time, doesn't she? She wants to show her this town's got attractive men in it, doesn't she? Well then! For goodness sake let her borrow Morgan! Who cares?"

Caroline subsided into timid silence, a little frightened by the passion in Kate's voice.

Though two years Kate's senior, Caroline Meed had long ago bowed to the dominant personality of her younger sister. She was not offended when people said "Kate and Caroline"—as they usually did—instead of Caroline and Kate. It seemed natural and right. She was shorter than Kate by a good three inches, and 12 pounds lighter. Her personality was sweet and negative, while Kate's was glowing and positive.

Caroline's beauty, aside from her small, graceful body, was composed of delicate, even features, gray-blue eyes and ash blond hair which she wore in a knot at the nape of her neck. She possessed a deep-flowing mentality and a musical speaking voice. She was neither gay nor witty. In a crowd she was often overlooked.

THE two sisters loved each other devotedly, each jealous of the world for the sake of the other. They did not clearly remember their parents. But they did remember and keenly miss their grandmother who had died two years before—the Major's efficient, dynamic little wife whom he'd always called "Miss Kitty." Since Miss Kitty's passing, the Major's business affairs had gone from bad to worse and his periods of drinking had become more frequent. His granddaughters loved and admired him, but they were not at all capable of dealing with his charming indolence and his craving for the bottle.

They were, as Kate put it, "up a tree about Granddad."

"What's for supper?" Kate asked after they had sat silent for a few minutes.

"Baked beans," Caroline answered, "cooked in the ham liquor. Tomato sauce and brown sugar on top. That's our piece de resistance."

"Isn't there any chance of our having some sliced ham?" Kate inquired hopefully, like a greedy, round-eyed child.

Caroline shook her head. "We had an order for the fourth ham today. A telegram from the Pen-dennis Club. It's lucky we cooked it."

"Good news and bad," Kate remarked. "It means about seven dollars in Granddad's pockets, but at the same time it's cruel to have the house full of that heavenly ham smell and not be able to eat any of it. . . . Who'll take the hams to Louisville tomorrow?"

"Zeke, of course," Caroline answered, referring to their handy man, Althy's rheumatic old husband. "You know Granddad does not approve of your and my peddling food. . . . Even when I carry cottage cheese to the Woman's Exchange in town he fusses about it. But you know, honey," she added rather pleadingly, "we can't snap our fingers at his poor silly old pride, because it's about all he has left."

Kate nodded. She knew about Granddad's pride. It was an affliction, like a sore toe or a broken nose. You had to be careful not to jostle it. "Well," she suggested, "let's go to town with Zeke anyway. It won't cost us anything but our lunch. I think I need a day in Louisville."

"Yes, let's," Caroline agreed quickly. She was thinking, "Poor kid, it will take her mind off Morgan." She said to Kate, "I've got a little change. I could take you to a movie. And we could window shop." She added, "But you ask Granddad. You can manage him better than I can. Where is he, by the way? He disappeared this morning."

Kate came suddenly alert. "He's in town," she answered. "I noticed Dobbin and the phaeton in the square."

THE two sisters looked at each other, an electric uneasiness passing between them. "You mean he didn't use the flivver?" Caroline asked in a quiet, anxious voice.

Kate shook her head gloomily. "I ought to have looked after him," she said. "I saw the phaeton and Dobbin hitched there, but it simply didn't register. I guess I was thinking about—something else."

Caroline hastened to say, "I understand, honey. I have absent-minded spells myself. Hadn't we better send Zeke after him?"

This expedient was not necessary, for at that moment a sound of sweetly quavering singing was heard in the direction of the pike, and almost at once a vehicle, slowly drawn by a horse, turned in at the gateway. As the equipage came nearer they saw that the driving lines were wrapped trustfully around the whip, and that the old horse picked his way as if bearing the burden of the world on his body.

The two girls went down to open the yard gate, their lovely young faces troubled and a little sad. With one accord they patted the flanks of the faithful old horse as he came to a stop. Dobbin turned his head and looked at them, meekly accepting their just praise.

"Well, Granddad?" Kate said experimentally, wondering just how much he had had this time.

"Evening, Granddaughters," replied the Major. "Don't let Miss Kitty catch me comin' home this way. Been on San Juan hill with Teddy. Nish officer, ought to be Democrat."

They knew then that he was very drunk, indeed, and that he had probably stood treat to a half dozen wasters with his last bill. They called Zeke, urgently, and the old darkey came on a jogging run. Between them, they got the Major safely to the ground and to his feet. Kate delayed them a moment to feel in his pockets.

"Three nickels!" she said in disgust. "Last night he had a five dollar bill! I saw it!"

TEST OF LOVE

If a prospective bride wants to learn something of the makeup of her future husband, the American Automobile Association suggests that she study the way he drives his car.

A trip through hectic traffic, according to the AAA, will reveal to her whether he has a violent temper, nerves, tendency to fatigue, timidity, manners, and sportsmanship.

The association fails to give tips for the prospective bridegroom, but perhaps a similar test would enlighten him, too. Thus, if his bride-to-be is querulous when he grazes another car, frequently looks herself over in the rear vision mirror, "back seat drives," makes slighting references to the gown of a passing woman, or drops cigaret ashes on the floor—well, would that seem indicative of shrewdness, vanity, a bossy attitude, cat-tiness, and untidiness?

EXAMPLE, THE GREATEST HELP

Those people who think we should be a good neighbor to Europe and help them solve their money and economic problems, should remember that those who meddle into other peoples' "scraps," invariably come out at the little end of the horn.

The greatest help we can be to Europe in money matters or in economic matters, is to set a good example of sound morals, sound money and a reputation for truth and veracity on the part of the government and the citizens.

Would we simply show Europe how to permanently raise the standard of living of all our people, let every man who is willing to work have a job at good wages, we would do more for Europe in this way, than by any other possible way. We can teach far better by example than we can by any other plan.

TOTALITARIAN STATE

Independent colleges are considerably concerned about the tendency of the state to do all of the teaching. A letter from an old friend and, at present, president of a small college in the east, says, "I rejoice in the three hundred years of Harvard history. These schools, while they are loyal to the state, are not run by the politicians. To my mind, it's a mistaken idea to think that the state should do all the teaching. I am loyal to the public school system, but I discover a present day tendency toward what is known in Germany as the totalitarian state. The church was first in the field of education, and it is too bad that the church has fallen behind to secondary place. The growth of the great state universities, I suppose, was inevitable, but I don't want to see them crowd to the wall and destroy these free and independent institutions that can rebuke the government when it goes wrong."

When the state gets complete control of education by freezing out the institutions that are privately endowed, either by making it impossible for any man to make profits on account of inflation which will wreck the income of all endowed institutions, then we will be in a very precarious condition as to education. It will be nothing but the propaganda of those in control to perpetuate their ideas and their power.

As the college president in the above says, there is need of independent institutions to rebuke the government when it goes wrong.

PERCENTAGE OF WAGES NATIONAL INCOME

Probably 90 per cent of the people believe that the depression is due to the fact that wages have not been high enough for the workers to buy back their production. This contention, however, does not seem to be verified by actual facts.

Robert Doane, in his great book, "Measurement of American Wealth," gives a very interesting table showing the percentages of distribution of national income from 1909 to 1932. It follows:

Year	Wages	Taxes	Rents	Int.	Divi.	Other	Total
1909	51.5	0.4	0.8	0.2	0.7	26.3	100.0
1913	52.4	0.4	0.4	0.2	0.7	21.9	100.0
1919	53.2	0.5	0.4	0.2	0.5	24.2	100.0
1929	57.0	0.6	0.9	0.2	0.8	12.5	100.0
1932	58.1	0.5	1.6	0.3	0.6	12.9	100.0

This shows that the percentage going to wages of the national income in 1929 was 57 per cent. This was higher than it ever had been before.

Some economists are of the opinion that when wage earners secure such a high fraction of the national income, there will not be enough new capital added to give employment to the constantly increasing number of workers; that the workers, when they receive their wages, spend them rather than reinvest them, this makes the ratio of capital to the number of employees gradually less.

These figures should certainly controvert the contention of those who claim the depression was due to wages not being high enough to buy back the products of the producers.

Grief binds two hearts in closer bonds than happiness ever can; and common sufferings are far stronger links than common joys.

—Lamontine.

PLOWSHARES, WHEAT AND EMPLOYMENT

Napoleon said, "Vanity made the Revolution; liberty was the pretext." Those who think they know the cause of our present Revolution (unemployment) and do not know, are the cause of ten million people being out of work and nearly all of those who are now employed working for less than they should be.

We would like to reduce to a very simplified form, by illustration, the cause of unemployment. We welcome our professional educators and brain trusters to analyze the illustration, and, if we be one who is guilty of vanity and are causing unemployment, a presentation is welcomed pointing out wherein the following illustration is in error as to the cause of low wages and unemployment:

Let us suppose that instead of the million of things people desire, they desire only one thing; namely, wheat, and never could get enough to supply the demand. All of the work in raising the wheat was done by hand-made tools excepting, in order to simplify the illustration, plows; that the land has various degrees of fertility—some land would produce 10, 15, 20, 30 bushels to the acre, with 10 days of labor to produce it plus the use of the plow; that it required one new plowshare for every acre; that there was no money in exchange, but wheat was used as a medium of exchange and a storage of value. Now, let us suppose that the men who made the plowshares demanded 10 bushels of wheat for each plowshare and that a man could make a plowshare in a day. They, however, contended that this did not establish the value of the plowshare, that they needed 10 bushels for one plowshare in order to have an "abundant life." These makers of plowshares claimed a special right that they and their children were the only ones who dared make plowshares; that they would not help raise wheat but would only be employed at the trade of making plowshares; that they would use their weapons and kill and maim in the dark anyone who would attempt to make a plowshare. The farmers were timid, self-sacrificing, and did not like to fight, so acquiesced in this agreement.

The result would be, of course, that the land that would produce only 10 bushels for 10 days' work could not be operated by the farmers because there would be nothing left for them after they paid the 10 bushels to the plowshare makers. The land that produced 15 bushels with 10 days' work, could be operated, provided the farmers were willing to work for a half bushel a day and give the makers of the plowshares 10 bushels for a day's work. As time went on, the population of the plowshare makers increased much more rapidly than the population of the farmers and they were obliged occasionally to make a concession to some obstreperous farmer who objected to the discrimination and allow his children to also make plowshares. Finally, because of this gradual change, it got so that the makers of plowshares were busy only about one day a week. Even at that, their annual income was greater than the farmers who operated farms that produced only 15 bushels of wheat for 10 days' work.

It is easy to see that, permitting a large amount of the population to do nothing but produce plowshares, when there was more and more wheat needed and wanted all the time, would greatly reduce the standard of living of all the people, even the standard of living of the makers of plowshares, provided they did not regard their idleness as an increased standard of living. If it were possible for these farmers to work for absolutely nothing and give all of the produce to the makers of plowshares, they could operate the land that produced only 10 bushels of wheat for 10 days' work but it would be impossible for any man to work and produce without some subsistence so that only that part of the land that would produce a little more than 10 bushels of wheat for 10 days' work could be operated when the plowshare men demanded 10 bushels of wheat for one plowshare and it took one plowshare for each acre.

This illustration might seem very simple and absurd. We are now facing in the United States conditions similar but not so exaggerated. Certain groups contend that they must have a certain reward for doing their part of producing the national wealth. We are now facing a strike of shipping workers. The workers contend that they must be the judge as to what constitutes a day's work, who shall be hired and who shall be fired. There seems to be not so much argument between the ship owners and the longshoremen as to the amount of wages per hour, but the amount of wages per unit of service is radically in dispute. If the people of the United States will give the ship workers the divine right of unloading ships and will allow them to kill or intimidate any other worker of the millions who are obliged to work for a fraction of what the longshoremen get because the total national wealth is not sufficient to pay everyone an equal reward for an equal expenditure of energy, then these people who sit idly by and permit this, should become their slaves.

There are two ways that unemployment can end. One is for the great mass of people who are excluded from special privilege to work for practically nothing, or for nothing, if they have a surplus stored up, and permit those with special privilege to take practically all the production.

The other way to end unemployment is to permit no person to receive more for doing any job than other people are willing to perform the same service for.

If the above is vanity and not logical, anyone who will point out wherein it is in error and how we are helping spread ideas that continue to keep people unemployed and receiving less wages than they should, we will greatly appreciate such a communication, either privately or publicly, as the informer may see fit.

The Muddy Season

WHAT PRICE GLORY?

By DR. GEORGE L. HOXIE

(Editor's Note: The following article is reprinted from Wednesday morning's edition of the Los Angeles Times. It was written by Dr. George L. Hoxie, prominent consulting engineer of Los Angeles and co-author of mechanical engineering text books. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and a fellow of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.)

When an obscure man gains high place, then throws common sense to the winds and presently craves, it is common to remark: "He couldn't stand prosperity." The thing is fairly common; it leads one to wonder whether more than a very few—either men or nations—can keep their heads when exposed to the temptations of success.

Nations, at any rate, seem unable to tolerate prosperity. What happened to Greece, to Rome? Where are the vast empires of Genghis Kahn and Tamerlane? Germany under the Kaiser was gaining more rapidly, both in wealth and in power, than any other nation except the United States. Yet that old Germany virtually committed suicide.

Our nation was built upon liberty, upon freedom to work or to loaf, to succeed or to fail, according to ability. Under that regime the competent came to the top and in their successes carried even the misfits to higher standards of living than any other land yet knows. Shall we, not being able to endure prosperity, kick down the ladder by which we climbed? What is this "liberty" is liberty worth, its cost? Must we sacrifice liberty in order to get security, or do we get security only as a by-product of liberty?

A squirrel, running the treadmill of his commodious cage, has complete security. A comfortable home, ample food and drink, protection from the elements, all are given to the squirrel without charge. But open the door of the cage and see whether that squirrel prefers liberty to tend for himself, to contend with the elements, perhaps to eat or perhaps to starve, liberty, it may be, to lose his very life.

Or, test the reactions of a convict in the security of a modern prison—well fed, amply clothed, with library, radio, sports, easy work, ample leisure and the society of his peers. Why should such a prison need bolts, bars and armed guards?

Shall we build shackles for our people, in which any rules of the moment may confine our activities at will, trusting to hope that no ruler will ever use those shackles to our hurt? Can even the most well-intentioned ruler live forever? Must we have a ruler of life, rather, under an empire, calling "safe," or "out," in accordance with simple rules of conduct which we, the people, have set up?

On January 4, 1936, President Roosevelt in his annual message to Congress said:

"These (economic autocrats) realize that in thirty-four months we have built up new instruments of public power. In the hands of a people's government this power is wholesome and proper. But in the hands of political puppets of an economic autocracy such power would provide shackles for the liberties of the people."

Why change the laws, or the courts, or the Constitution, to create industrial shackles—such as our President has warned us would be dangerous if in the wrong hands? Must we have shackles? Will not rules suffice?

How can even thick and thin supporters of the New Deal be sure that shackles will never be used unwisely? Assume, for the sake of argument, that we have the wisest, most far-seeing, unselfish, humane and nonvindictive of rulers. Will that man live forever? What successor might decide to lock those unused shackles around our necks?

How much more we should fear a man who not only made shackles, but who once tried to fasten them on the people. Fortunately, we then had a supreme umpire, calling "Out," or "Safe," quite dispassionately, according to rules of the game, established in advance by the players themselves.

Our umpire, the Supreme Court, extended the monopoly and price-fixing shackles of the NRA. It called an "Out," 9 to 0; the rules of play had been flouted. That decision really said: "The people have set up rules. You broke those rules, for the present you are 'out.' If you don't like the rules, frankly ask the people to change the rules." Business, which had been checked by the NRA, began to pick up.

The AAA clamped on other shackles, temporarily, till the umpire spoke. Needed food was destroyed, farmers were told what, where and how much to plant, and how much to dig up. Processors were told to pay the damages and to bill consumers for repayment. The umpire called "Out," 6 to 3. Removal of those shackles gave almost as much stimulus to trade as did the striking off of the N. R. A. handcuffs.

Other handcuffs likewise have been stricken off. Farm moratorium, 9 to 0; oil control, 8 to 1; Ruffey Act, 6 to 3; municipal bankruptcy and railroad retirement, 5 to 4 each. Release from these bonds provided much of the real portion of our so-called recovery. The spurious portion (probably the larger of the two) rests upon the inflation growing out of colossal spendings and resultant unbalanced government budgets.

One might suppose that even New Dealers would shrink from clamping on the bolts and bars of dictatorial personal government operated through bureaucrats. Such men, if they were accustomed to think things through, would hesitate to make handcuffs which, as their leader has told them, would, in the wrong hands, provide shackles for the liberties of the people. History is replete with instances where forces set loose by one were used by another.

Trotsky's mailed fist built the Bolshevik state according to Lenin's plan. But the vast powers which Lenin and Trotsky gave to Russia's dictator are now wielded by a man who seeks Trotsky's own life. And Trotsky finds precarious refuge in Norway under the sort of liberty which Trotsky destroyed in his own country.

French revolutionists, at the close of the eighteenth century, set out to remake France—much as our own New Dealers set out to remake America. That earlier movement shortly degenerated into the terror—then Napoleon—then back to a king again. How can even a visionary be so sure that dictatorial power, once created, will not some time be welded to his discomfort?

But for those who are not visionaries there is a still more compelling reason for struggling to preserve liberty; it is that the New Deal has failed. Personal government, with Congress delegating its powers, got nowhere. This depression, which the New Deal was to end so quickly, has already lasted longer than any other period of hard times in American history. Sacrifice of liberty for flesh-pots was unavailing. The flesh-pots were not forthcoming. And today the numbers and the cost of those who live on the government are greater than ever. What effort for propaganda to fill the press with shouts of "recovery is here" while such conditions exist.

If the New Deal were penitent, if it were promising to reverse its policies and live a better life, some of the credulous might find excuse to favor giving it another chance. But the New Deal scarcely conceals its purpose to continue existing shackles and to clamp on those other fetters which the umpire struck off.

Nor is there any apparent intention frankly to ask the people to change their rules. Instead, the cry of some New Dealers is virtually the slogan, partly jovial on the baseball field but deadly serious here, "kill the umpire."

Our umpire, the Supreme Court, is nine learned men. In all probability there would be opportunity during the next four years to put players on some of the teams in dual positions, at once captains and umpires. Such a program would end baseball; what would it do to America?

Our liberty, gained in bloody war, can only be preserved by constant vigilance.

Senora Ramona de la Guerra descendant of one of the oldest Spanish families in Southern California, and mistress of the historic Yorba ranch, near Anaheim, died today at the age of 88. She was the daughter of the late Don Thomas Yorba, inheritor of the Santa Ana de Santa Ana rancho grant of 65,000 acres in Orange county, and one of the wealthiest men of his time. The present Yorba ranch is a part of the original grant and consists of 2500 acres eight miles from Anaheim. Senora de la Guerra was born in the family home in Los Angeles directly across from the old Plaza church. Built at the time the mission was founded more than a century and a quarter ago, it was one of the city landmarks. Her mother, Donna Vicenta Sepulveda de Carrillo, died four years ago at the age of 94.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

A NEGLECTED ASSET

"Is there a man in the moon, is in response to its hunger for news of the world and its doing that makes progress possible. It is behind every invention and discovery, behind every creative work. To restrain it to the point of extinction is to take from a child one of his greatest aids to growth. It ought to be possible to guide a child to legitimate searches instead of wiping out his power to search.

When a child asks about the moon it is easy to say, "I know very little about it except that it is very beautiful. It is a cold, dead world hanging in the sky. It reflects the light of the sun. It has no light, no heat of its own. It is a mysterious thing and poets love to write about it. One of the strange powers it has is the control of the tides. Here's a little book that tells you something about it, and your teachers can maybe tell you some more."

Help the child follow the lead of his curious questioning mind because that is the power on which he must move if he is to get beyond the spot where he stands. It is a terrible thing to treat a child in such a fashion as to destroy his interest in the man in the moon, the shadows in the water and the strange ways of this magic sphere we call earth.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply. (Copyright, 1936, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

Little Benny's

BY LEE PAPE

Me and pop was taking a walk before supper, and I said, Here comes Skinny Martin's father, pop, do you think he'll still want to make you listen to how he made a hole in one.

If he tries I'm still ready for him, pop said. Which just then Mr. Martin stopped going passed, saying, Well, this is what I call good weather. That's my name for it, too, pop said, and Mr. Martin said, By the way, I believe we were interrupted the other day when I started to tell you about my hole in one.

By golly that's rite, I knew there was something on your mind but I couldn't remember what, pop said. And speaking of unusual exploits in golf, I used to play a chap named Wurtzel who had no more respect for rules than as if they didn't exist. If he missed a hole by a few inches he thawt nothing of sliding the ball the rest of the way with his foot, and his idea of replacing divots was to stick them down the back of my neck just as I was commencing my swing, pop said, and Mr. Martin said, He hardly deserved to be called a golfer. When I left the clubhouse that afternoon nothing was further from my mind than making a hole in one, in fact my golf had been rather under par, he said.

Well, I thawt I'd play this Wurtzel at his own game, pop said. So one fine day I arranged a match with him in which there were to be no rules at all. He teed off first, and just as he was about to sock the old ball I made a flying tackle at him from behind and got him around the knees and browt him down with a bump that dislocated one of his elbows. But by golly you cant beat a man at his own game. I wasn't on in 1920.
